ABOUT:

This short work, lovingly crafted by Geritt W. Davenport, is a perfect opener, closer, or feature for any small brass ensemble! Millenium Fanfare brings excitement and flair without relying on technically difficult parts to make it accessible for all.

FROM THE COMPOSER:

This spritely fanfare is one of many small works that were just thrust upon me one evening. As many composers have certainly experienced, I sat deep in thought, or what some would label more affectionately as "creative desperation", attempting to lay the first few notes for a much larger work. As I pondered and scoured my mind and imagination for these first few notes, I was struck with the tune for this little work. At that moment, I was compelled to drop all that I was doing and pen this piece to completion.

Some music is nurtured, polished, and built brick by brick over an extended period of time. Others however, demand they be put on the page as fast as humanly possible.
