Program Notes

The catapults are in place. The archers are at the ready. The sun rises and dawn reveals the colorful banners of a rightful king. The intensity builds. Let the siege begin!

Your students will feel the dramatic tone and intensity of a pending attack as they bring life to this exciting original composition for intermediate string orchestra. The steady cadence of a march-like rhythm sets the pace beneath a persistent melody of steadfast pursuit. In the key of E minor, The Siege offers an enjoyable platform for review or even introduction to this key, as well as some easy accidentals. Focused dynamic work is important to the piece and will offer students the opportunity to develop and refine bow control. Each instrument is featured with its own melodic line so that no one is left out of the fun!

About the Composer

Christian A. Williams is a string educator born and raised in South Carolina. He began playing the violin in fifth grade and grew up through the strings program in his hometown of Central, SC. He graduated from Furman University with a Bachelor of Music Education – Instrumental with a specialization in strings. Mr. Williams has been teaching fifth grade beginning strings and high school orchestra for seventeen years. He is the viola sectional coach for the high school symphony, and teaches violin privately. He also has experience working with middle school students, both individually and in class settings.

Mr. Williams began composing, dictating and arranging music in high school. He became a published composer and arranger in 2008. His music focuses heavily on strengthening low strings and providing melodic leadership opportunities for them, especially viola. His compositional focus stems from his work with his students and a desire to create music that they are excited about, capable of playing, and takes into consideration all sections in leadership roles.

Mr. Williams teaches and lives in Spartanburg, SC, where he spends a lot of time reading, writing (he is also a published author), and composing.
