AUTHOR'S NOTE

This guidebook is simply a reminder of what you already inherently know. The simple design of this guidebook is to help you rewire your conscious and subconscious mind by allowing the feedback from the 9 inner eyes (i) of your chakras to un-oppress your repressed thoughts and suppressed feelings. By using past oppression in your favor, the negative pressure from your past unresolved feelings can change and transform your present thoughts and feelings into your future dreams of wealth. Diamonds go through years of pressure until they are ready to shine with clarity and purity. Resistance of truth and pressure of love are the very process of increasing the clarity and purity of your chakras' 9 inner eyes (i) of instincts, insight, integrity, involvement, identity, individuality, inspiration, intuition and intention. These 9 inner eyes (i) are your chakras that will become your newfound genuine inner guidance towards your treasures of wealth. And, your keys to unlocking your treasures are your faithful persistence of trusting the value that you know you already have inside of you.

The journey of genuine inner guidance is one of goodness and challenges. The goodness is to be enjoyed and the challenges, of doing what is right regardless of circumstances, are your test of faith which helps you increase your inner resistance and pressure to lies from fear. Life is meant to test you through challenges until you have mastered all of your negative aspects of fear (i.e., shame, guilt, cruelty, grief, negative imagination, pain, anger, false pride, doubt, etc.). By focusing your attention on your unresolved fears you will understand life's design and begin to see the perfection in your process of development. Faith and hope are your inner voice and inner vision that are your compass directing you towards a wealth that is more than you ever could have imagined. And, your key of persistence is being responsible for resolving the problems causing your fear versus projecting them onto others, which contributes to your loss of power and direction. Inner resistance of truth and inner pressure of love are necessary to stimulate and strengthen the imagination of your mind so you may resolve your problems and overcome your fears. By understanding and using the inner process of your imagination, your past poisons of lies from fear will become your medicine so you may attain your future wealth.

A healthy mind can be likened to your immune system, which is your white blood cells (your conscious mind's spirit) persistently identifying the unknown so it may understand and process out what you don't want. By using your conscious mind's positive thought process you will be able to identify and oscillate out the negative feelings from your past. Once you set the intention of empowering yourself by facing your fears, your journey begins. Life is a journey of goodness or self-oppression, if you allow it. Once you decide that you are willing to trust what you already know, you will stop your self-oppression so that you may identify and overcome the mental-emotional scar tissue of your past fears. Revisiting your unresolved past is an opportunity for you to find your deep power within. Each person has a special gift to share, a source of inspiration that is unique to that individual. By trusting what you already know, you will find that your keys and treasures of wealth are already safely tucked away inside of you.

No one can take away what you were meant to share, but you must understand the process of identifying your own inner fears is yours and you must overcome your fear in order to be an inspiration to others. It is through your process of identifying your own inner lies from fear that you become able to stimulate and strengthen all that is good within you so you may share the goodness you have outwardly. On your journey, you will attract all that is good and bad within you, so you may master an understanding of all the experiences in life that you do and do not want. Acting on and reacting to untruthful and unloving aspects of your fear will show you your inner lies of disempowerment. The design of life's process is one of true self-empowerment by consciously understanding the difference between what is good and what is bad for you. Consciously understanding the difference is necessary to create clarity and manifest purity of all that is truthful and loving to you, which is your true wealth. Therefore, it is important to focus most of your attention on taking the time to make good decisions of true self-empowerment. This guidebook is especially designed to help you understand your own thought-feeling process so that you may make those good decisions.

Healing, magic, and wealth are all synonymous for mastering the process of change and transformation so you may move forward towards what you want. Magically creating and manifesting lasting wealth happens as you are healing the scar tissue of imbalance and misalignment in your mind by resolving your past problems and fear. You create balance in your conscious mind by focusing your attention on hearing your inner voice of truth. You manifest alignment in your subconscious mind by focusing your attention on seeing your inner vision of love. Your daily path of genuine inner guidance gives you life lessons of clear truth and life experiences of pure love, which can only be recognized through your persistently focused attention. You must have the majority of your focused attention on your own thoughts and feelings in order for you to heal your past. Your preventative and maintained focused attention is a necessary skill you must develop to attain and sustain the wealth you desire. Understanding your potential magic of change and transformation is not only developing your skill of persistent focused attention, but believing in yourself to attain the outcome of your desired wealth. Believing in yourself is a necessary component of magic, which is called trust. Trust is necessary for your intentions of faith and hope to help you change and transform what you don't want into what you do want. In order for you to understand what you do want, you must be able to clearly identify your own thoughts. Your thoughts originate at a conceptual level from your good intentions to help yourself and others or your bad intentions of being fearfully selfish. Therefore, it is in your best interest to first focus your attention to the origin of your thoughts by identifying your intentions. The consistency of your good intentions manifests what you want more frequently as you resolve your negative aspects of fear.

This guidebook is a template that is designed in a simple manner to help you identify your unresolved negative aspects of fear so that you may heal. Unresolved fear is confusion which does not allow you to identify what you do and do not want. And, you must know what you want in order to magically create and manifest the wealth you desire. The answers to the wealth you desire that will bring you lasting happiness, health, wealth, love and wisdom are inside of you. Understanding your own thoughts and feelings is necessary in order to bring the wealth that resides within you into your own outwardly created manifestation of lasting enjoyment. Your path of genuine inner guidance is one that will help you to first resolve your negative aspects of fear so that you may have lasting wealth. This guidebook is designed as a reference guide to help you each day on your path towards wealth.

Your magic of change and transformation lies in your ability to make good decisions based on your inner voice of truth and your inner vision of love, as you are processing through your negative aspects of fear. Taking control of fear by understanding its negative aspects is the very essence of self-healing, which means bringing into power all aspects of yourself: dark and light. Making good decisions means researching all of your choices and options until you find the best ones that are available to you. What is helpful in your decision making process is maintaining and sustaining your connection to faith and hope. Doing what others may see as improbable or impossible is overcome by using the compass of your inner voice and inner vision of imagination. Your positive imagination is your identity identifying your inner voice and inner vision of your highest potential. Trust is ideal and essential for your imagination to exist through your inner voice of truth and inner vision of love. Your focused attention to this process renews your conscious and subconscious mind's neural network of true self-empowerment so that you may bring yourself out of your cocoon of fear and lies.

Judgment of yourself and others in your self-empowerment process only takes you backwards in your own evolutionary process as it shows no compassion for yourself or the difficulty of those who are uneducated and without tools. Proper education of our own thought-feeling process is necessary for all of humanity to overcome the disease of fear which has caused the global imbalance and misalignment affecting each person's process of true self-empowerment.

INTRODUCTION

Wealth: The first step to acquiring all that is wealthy is by understanding the inner mechanisms of your own thought-feeling process. In this guidebook, you will find a clear template that will help you process out your fears so that you may find your genuine inner guidance towards wealth. Any wealth that has ever expressed itself in the outer world, initially expressed itself on the inside of an individual. Innately everyone wants all that is wealthy. So, what exactly is wealth? True wealth is a path that is led by the trust of faith and hope that wants to give us everything we desire. By following your path of wealth, you will find your own treasure chests of happiness, health, wealth, love and wisdom along the way.

Intentions: There is much debate in this world between right and wrong. Innately, each person knows the difference between right and wrong. Your guiding principles of what is right are your good intentions from faith and hope. Good intentions from faith and hope are the origin of all that is wealthy: happiness, health, wealth, love and wisdom. Bad intentions from faithlessness and hopelessness are the origin of all that is un-wealthy: depression, sickness, poverty, hatred and ignorance.

Every thought and feeling begins at the conceptual level of intention. Intentions to help yourself and/or share with others allow you to make good decisions, which move you forward in your evolutionary process. Intentions to not help yourself and/or not share with others do not allow you to make good decisions, which move you backwards in your evolutionary process.

Faith and Hope: Having faith is allowing yourself to hear your inner voice of genuine inner guidance from your conscious mind's spirit. Having hope is allowing yourself to see your inner vision of genuine inner guidance from your subconscious mind's soul. Faith and hope are your inner compass of positive imagination that will guide you towards all that is wealthy. Faithlessness and hopelessness are the origins of cause of all the negative aspects of fear, which cause you to lose your inner compass. The solutions to resolving all of your negative aspects of fear will be further explained in the Overview Summary and Chapters 1-9.

Trust: Trust is the most valuable commodity amongst mankind. What is trust? Trust is believing in your faith and hope of good intentions. Why is trusting your good intentions important? Trust allows your good intentions from your conscious mind's spirit to receive fresh conceptually ideal thoughts that increase the clarity of your inner voice. And, trust allows your good intentions from your subconscious mind's soul to conceive fresh conceptually essential feelings that increase the purity of your inner vision.

The most important commodity a person could hope to earn from another is trust. Trust allows our new ideal thoughts and essential feelings to flow, which are our renewable source of mental-emotional energy. Money earned that is based on trust brings abundant happiness; money earned through mistrustful actions brings unhappiness and future debt. We cannot afford to lose sight of the meaning of trust. Therefore, this guidebook was written to help remind you to trust yourself from the inside-out. Trusting yourself from the inside-out means using the compass of your inner voice and inner vision.

Truth and Love: By developing the clarity of your inner thoughts you become closer to your self-expression of your inner voice of truth. And, by developing the purity of your inner feelings you become closer to your self-expression of your inner vision of love. Once you are able to master this process, you will be able to use your inner voice of truth to create and your inner vision of love to manifest your inner wealth outwardly.

Imagination: The path led by faith and hope is a true test through many challenges which forces us to consistently expand our minds by using our imagination. Why use our imagination? Our positive imagination is our greatest ability to identify, work through and overcome the ever present obstacles of fear. So, what exactly is fear? Fear is a contractive force that causes us to not use the problem-solving skills of our positive imagination to get what we want. What exactly is imagination? Your imagination is your inner voice of truth that gives you your best choices. And, your imagination is your inner vision of love that gives you your best options. Unresolved negative aspects of fear become the lie that you do not have any choices or options to resolve your own problems (or, you may have unhealthy strings of attachment from someone else intentionally confusing you and controlling your choices and options). Your conscious mind's spirit of active questioning allows the process of you finding your best choices from your own inner voice of truth. And, your subconscious mind's soul of formulated answers allows the process of you finding your best options from your own inner vision of love to achieve the wealth you desire.

Presence of Mind: Proper use of your mind is the ability to be in the present moment and hear your inner voice of truthful choices and see your inner vision of loving options. Allowing time for total presence of mind is necessary for each person's decision making process. Being present enables our positive imagination to identify our best thought-choices together with our best feeling-options so we may create and manifest all that is wealthy. Your focused attention is necessary for the proper functioning of your mind to work like your immune system. Your mind is meant to identify all of your challenges so you may overcome them. Your conscious mind's spirit is consistently working throughout the day to refine your complex problems into their most simple components so that you may properly identify your own thoughtful-beliefs of guidance. And, your subconscious mind's soul is consistently working throughout the night to resolve your complex problems into their most simple components so that you may properly identify your own feeling-memory vibrations of guidance. When your conscious mind's spirit and subconscious mind's soul are properly functioning, they have greater access to your highest imagination which always finds solutions to go beyond your problems.

Focused Attention: Your preventative and maintained focused attention to your conscious mind's spiritual inner voice of truth stimulates the process of naturally refining the clarity of your active questions. And, your preventative and maintained focused attention to your subconscious mind's soulful inner vision of love strengthens the process of naturally resolving the purity of your formulated answers of wealth.

Ability to Identify: Your ability to identify your thoughts is dependent upon your focused attention from your good intentions of faith. Your good intentions of faith will refine your repressed, imbalanced thoughtful-belief patterns of lies that are blocking you from hearing the clarity of your inner voice of truth and active questions. And, your ability to identify your feelings is dependent upon your focused attention from your good intentions of hope. Your good intentions of hope will resolve your suppressed, misaligned feeling-memory vibrations of fear that are blocking you from seeing the purity of your inner vision of love formulating the answers to your problems.

Thought-Feeling Process: Each person has their own unique thought-feeling process so they may make good decisions towards their wealth. It is important to understand your own thought-feeling process so that your decisions create balance and manifest alignment on your daily path towards wealth. Your chosen thoughts are your identity of the creative power of your imagination. And, your optional feelings are your identity of the manifestive power of your imagination. So, if you are consciously focusing too much of your attention on something or someone else, you become imbalanced and misaligned in your decision making process. Making bad decisions from your unfocused attention to your conscious mind's spiritual truth creates imbalanced thoughtful-belief patterns of lies. It is necessary for you to keep most of your focused attention on your thoughts of truth for your own self-protection of good decisions. Your inner voice of clear truth is your self-protection, which is a necessary protection against the disease of lies which have their origins in fear. Likewise, if you are subconsciously focusing too much of your own attention on something or someone else, you become misaligned in your decision making process. Making bad decisions from your unfocused attention to your subconscious mind's soulful love manifests misaligned feeling-memory vibrations of fear. It is necessary for you to keep most of your focused attention on your feelings of love for your own self-nourishment of good decisions. Your inner vision of pure love is your self-nourishment, which is necessary nourishment against the disease of lies which have their origins in fear.

We are not incarnated on this planet to constrict our own identity of imagining what we do not want by living in our own or other people's imbalance and misalignment of lies from fear. This is why it is important for you to focus your attention on taking your time to increase your own inner voice of truth and inner vision of love. Your preventative and maintained focused attention to your conscious mind's spiritual inner voice gives you more thoughtful-beliefs of clarity. And, your preventative and maintained focused attention to your subconscious mind's soulful inner vision gives you more feeling-memory vibrations of purity. Your subconscious mind's soulful inner vision of love nourishes your conscious mind's spiritual inner voice of truthful protection.

Reflective Key Mindset: The flowchart above is to help you understand the natural flow of your conscious mind's spirit which works with your subconscious mind's soul. Each day of faith is an opportunity to renew your reflective key mindset of truth by paying attention to your active questions which refine your past unwanted resistant beliefs of lies. Your focused attention of faith stimulates your conscious mind's spirit of ideal thoughts to flow. Your faith allows you to hear your conscious mind's spiritual inner voice of opportunities which help you make good decisions on your daily path of genuine inner guidance towards wealth.

Attractive Treasured Reality: The flowchart above will also help you to understand the natural flow of your subconscious mind's soul which works with your conscious mind's spirit. Each day of hope is an opportunity to renew your attractive treasured reality of love by paying attention to your formulated answers which resolve your past unwanted pressured memory vibrations of fear. Your focused attention of hope strengthens your subconscious mind's soul of essential feelings to flow. Your hope allows you to see your subconscious mind's soulful inner vision of opportunities which help you make good decisions on your daily path of genuine inner guidance towards wealth.

Yin/Yang: Your resistance of truth is your conscious mind's template of conceptually ideal thoughts from your good intentions. Your pressure of love is your subconscious mind's conceptually essential feelings that flow through your conscious mind's resistant template of truth. Truth and love work together; one cannot exist without the other. Both are necessary for a harmoniously flowing blend of true love.

Good intentions of hope allow your subconscious mind's soul to pressure your conscious mind's spirit to actively question your unresolved negative aspects of fear so you may find your truthful beliefs. Good intentions of faith increase your conscious mind's spiritual resistance to lies through active questioning to make good decisions of wealth. Making good decisions helps you to resolve your negative aspects of fear, which lessen with each good decision you make. Making good decisions from the clarity of your conscious mind's spiritual inner voice of active questions increases your chakras' 9 inner eyes (i) of resistant truth. And, making good decisions from the purity of your subconscious mind's soulful inner vision of formulated answers increases your chakras' 9 inner eyes (i) of loving pressure. Both truthful resistance and loving pressure are necessary for a harmoniously flowing blend of true love to oscillate, and thereby, process out the lower vibrations of resistant lies from your negative aspects of fear.

Your Chakras' 9 Inner Eyes (i) of Clarity & Purity: Respect your present thoughts and feelings as they foreshadow future events. Your present imagination identifies your inner voice of truth and your inner vision of love from your past that correspond to your future. By always trusting what you think and feel, you will stimulate your chakras' 9 inner eyes (i) of clarity and strengthen your chakras' 9 inner eyes (i) of purity which help to guide you towards your genuine inner guidance of wealth. Understanding your thought-feeling process from your chakras' 9 inner eyes (i) will help you to oscillate out the negative impressions from your past bad decisions and experiences. Unresolved feelings from past negative experiences reside in your subconscious mind and cloud your conscious mind's daily thinking process which is needed to make good clear decisions.

This book is designed to help you make good decisions by using your conscious mind to resolve your negative aspects of fear residing in your subconscious mind through a simple step-by-step process. This process begins with your 1st chakra and ends with your 9th chakra. Each chakra has an inner eye (i) of clarity and purity which are your inner keys and treasures of genuine inner guidance towards wealth. Your 9 inner eyes (i) have clarity of truth to cleanse and purity of love to purify you from the painful lies of your past bad decisions and experiences. Resolving past bad decisions and experiences is your genuine inner guidance so you may not only attain, but sustain your future wealth by learning to consistently make good decisions. In the Overview Summary and Chapters 1-9, you will find further definition of your inner eyes (i), which are your energy centers of truth and love in your 9 chakras. Your inner eye (i) of instincts is your 1st chakra, your inner eye (i) of insight is your 2nd chakra, your inner eye (i) of integrity is your 3rd chakra, your inner eye (i) of involvement is your 4th chakra, your inner eye (i) of identity is your 5th chakra, your inner eye (i) of individuality is your 6th chakra, your inner eye (i) of inspiration is your 7th chakra, your inner eye (i) of intuition is your 8th chakra and your inner eye (i) of intention is your 9th chakra.

Owning All of Your Energy is Necessary for Wealth: Your initial wealth is acquired by setting the intention to own all of your energy. The total sum of your energy is your reflective thoughts and attractive feelings from the feedback of your 9 chakras, which are your energy centers identifying truth, love, fear and lies. Your 9 chakras are: sex, navel, solar plexus, heart, throat, subconscious mind, conscious mind, crown and halo. Each energy center has an inner eye (i) of intelligent feedback that stimulates your conscious mind's spiritual resistance of truth and strengthens your subconscious mind's soulful pressure of love which are your purpose and meaning moving you forward towards your wealth.

Elements: Going through the process of separating your good thoughts from your bad thoughts refines your past resistant lies and creates your reflective resistance of truth, which helps you to balance your microcosm of the macrocosm of your elements. Your elements are your reflective and resistant energy centers of truth in the 9 inner eyes (i) of your 9 chakras. Your sex and navel chakras are your earth element. Your solar plexus and heart chakras are your water element. Your throat and subconscious mind chakras are your air element. Your conscious mind chakra is your fire element. Your crown chakra is your elemental fire of truth and Neptune planet. And, your halo chakra is your elemental wisdom of faith and Ceres planet that help you refine and balance all of your elements. Mastering your elements of truth to reflect, resist, and thereby, oscillate out your past lies, is a necessary change within to create the outward wealth you desire.

Planets/Universe: Going through the process of separating your good feelings from your bad feelings resolves your past pressure of fear and manifests your attractive pressure of love, which helps you to align your microcosm of the macrocosm of your universe. Your planets/universe are your attractive and pressured energy centers of love in the 9 inner eyes (i) of your 9 chakras. Your sex chakra is your Saturn planet. Your navel chakra is your Jupiter planet. Your solar plexus chakra is your Mars planet. Your heart chakra is your Venus planet. Your throat chakra is your Mercury planet. Your subconscious mind chakra is your Moon. Your conscious mind chakra is your Sun. Your crown chakra is your universal ether of love and Uranus planet. And, your halo chakra is your universal star of hope and Pluto planet that help you resolve and align your universe. Mastering your universe of love to attract, pressure, and thereby, oscillate out your past fears, is a necessary transformation within to manifest the outward wealth you desire.

Origins of Fear: Fear is a disease that we all must understand in order to transcend it, as we have all been infected with it. The origins of fear begin with having bad intentions. Bad intentions are those of wanting, wishing for or taking what does not belong to you. Wanting, wishing for or taking what does not belong to you is lying to yourself. And, so, we currently live in an environment of a manifested reality of fear from our own confusion of lies. Being caught in the confusion of our own (or other people's) lies is painful. Lies originate in the mind and cause a weakness of pain which is felt in the body. The problem began with the fact that we were unwilling to respect the natural ecosystem of our inner and outer environments. Our inner and outer environments had a natural balance and alignment that have been destroyed from generations of fear, lies and greed. Love is the privilege of enjoying our time with each other and sharing the natural resources on our planet. The truth is there is plenty of wealth for everyone, so we need not buy into the lie of wanting, wishing for or taking what does not belong to us. In reality, we all have more than enough to share with those in need around us. And, by taking the response-ability of resolving our subconscious mind's unresolved negative aspects of fear, we will once again be able to share the truth and love that we have destroyed.

Mentally resistant lies and emotionally pressured fear are a by-product of unresolved problems. In order to overcome fear, we must process through all of our resistant thoughtful-belief patterns of lies and pressured feeling-memory vibrations of fear. Unresolved negatively felt feeling-memory vibrations of fear manifest pain which becomes negative pressure. Unrefined negatively resistant thoughtful belief patterns of lies create passion which becomes negative resistance. By ignoring your inner world of negative thoughts, your unidentified thoughts are creating more of your negative resistance of lies. And, by ignoring your inner world of negative feelings, your unidentified feelings are manifesting more of your negative pressure of fear. Therefore, ignoring your inner world of thoughts and feelings becomes your own self-oppression, which causes all things in your life that are un-wealthy.

Disease: Disease is imbalance and misalignment from fear, lies and the irresponsibility of bad intentions to leave problems unresolved. Fear is the disease of negative inter-fear-ence of pressure from the oppression of your own past unresolved problems which represses your inner voice of truth and suppresses your inner vision of love. Disease is any unhealthy thoughtful-belief pattern of lies that deafens you from hearing your conscious mind's spiritual inner voice of truth and active questions. Disease is also any unhealthy feeling-memory vibration of fear that blinds you from seeing your subconscious mind's soulful inner vision of love formulating your answers of wealth. Everyone is infected with the disease of fear to a lesser or larger degree. Why? Because we have all had, or are still having, traumatic experiences that are from our (or other people's) unresolved problems. Your unresolved traumatic experiences leave a mental-emotional scar tissue that resides within your mind and is felt as pain in your body. Your misunderstood life lessons are your conscious mind's scar tissue of imbalanced thoughtful-belief patterns of lies from your repressed truth which causes your acts of passion. And, your misunderstood life experiences are your subconscious mind's scar tissue of misaligned feeling-memory vibrations of fear from your suppressed love which causes your reactions of pain. And, so, your thought-action and feeling-reaction responses become your decisions that are being made from your scar tissue of passion and pain instead of your truth and love. Therefore, your disease of fear will become worse by ignoring it. Your unfocused attention becomes your ignorance which represses your inner voice and suppresses your inner vision. This is your own form of self-oppression. Your self-oppression creates more lies and manifests more disease of fear. This is the vicious cycle of the disease of fear which has affected many generations.

Fear, Stress and Overwhelm: By ignoring your disease of fear you will become stressed and overwhelmed, because innately you know that you are not on your path of genuine inner guidance towards wealth. Stress and overwhelm are a result of your own self-oppression by ignoring your fear from your unresolved problems. As we know, by ignoring your fear your mind identifies itself with the scar tissue from the unresolved problems of your past. Once this happens, it creates and manifests your false identity from your unfocused attention. Your false identity begins to make bad decisions from the passion and pain of your mind's scar tissue. Making decisions based on your false identity perpetuates the lie of untruthful and unloving decisions. Untruthful and unloving decisions are a lie, because we are meant to create from the truth and manifest from the love within us. Bad decisions become your response that reinforces your stressed thoughtful-belief patterns of lies and overwhelmed feeling-memory vibrations of fear. When you are too stressed and overwhelmed, your attention naturally becomes unfocused and your mind represses your thoughts of truth and suppresses your feelings of love until you become strong enough to deal with the unresolved problems from your past.

By resolving all of your negative aspects of fear, you will find a way out of your un-wealthy situation of being stressed and overwhelmed. It is your pain of unresolved problems that manifests your inner pressure of negative inter-fear-ence. Resolve your own fear by focusing your attention on your inner vision of options that you do not want. You are not meant to act on your inner vision of what you do not want. By focusing your attention on what you do not want you will understand, through process of elimination, what you do want. Use your pressure of negative inter-fear-ence to stimulate your conscious mind's spirit to find a way to get what you really do want by staying focused on resolving your problems. Resolving your problems is achieved through your conscious mind's spirit of active questioning. Your conscious mind's spirit of active questioning will always help you to resolve your inner pressure of fear from unresolved problems. By staying focused, your old inner vision will transform and give you a new inner vision of options that you do want.

Your fear, stress and overwhelm will eventually become replaced by trusting the truthful clarity of your inner voice and the loving purity of your inner vision of positive imagination. We are meant to identify ourselves with finding solutions to what we do want. In the process of resolving your negative aspects of fear, you must be able to work with your fear until you are able to go beyond it. We actually want to understand and use our negative aspects of fear to empower us. It is our untapped source of fuel that pressures us to identify our thoughts of truth which helps us to resolve our problems. Our unresolved negative aspects of fear are an opportunity for us to see our weaknesses that need to be strengthened. We strengthen our weaknesses by consciously asking questions of how to resolve the problem of getting what we really do want. Your positive thought-feeling energy oscillates and once you understand how to identify and use the inner pressure from your negative aspects of fear, you can process out what you do not want. You will be able to go beyond your fear once you have mastered all of its negative aspects, which are expressed in your mind and body as weakness and discomfort. This discomfort is a result of not recognizing your past bad decisions and experiences. Once you recognize your past bad decisions and experiences, you will be able to resolve them by presently making better decisions. By understanding our past, we gain compassion and eliminate judgment, which becomes our freedom from fear. Our persistently focused attention and inner imagination can resolve any problem.

Healing, Magic, and Wealth: By understanding your negative aspects of fear, you will begin to heal and you will have the magic of change and transformation which actually becomes your genuine inner guidance towards wealth. The healing arts recognize the necessity of re-integrating all aspects of ourselves so we may learn to develop self-control and, in this process, gain compassion not only for ourselves, but for others as well. Healers are people who are magical, because they can use multiple methods to change and transform negative situations and ailments of imbalance and misalignment into positive outcomes of balance and alignment. People in the healing arts know that some of the remedies for healing are poisonous. Therefore, we can use the poison of lies from fear to realize the different aspects of truth each one of us has inside. Healing and magic are synonymous for turning your past poisons of lies from fear into present medicine for your future wealth. Magical people are able to change and transform their negative situations into positive outcomes, which move them forward towards their wealth. There are some people who are uneducated and without tools who have come to identify themselves with their negative aspects of fear versus using their fear to strengthen their weaknesses. Un-wealthy people who are contaminated by lies from their disease of fear take positive situations and turn them into negative outcomes not only for themselves, but for others as well. This keeps them, and others, from moving forward towards genuine wealth.

Present healing becomes your future magic of change and transformation by being responsible for managing the total sum of your thought-feeling energy. Owning all of your thought-feeling energy is your empowerment, and once you clearly understand your thought-feeling process you will be able to create and manifest what you do want. By taking the time to listen to your inner voice and see your inner vision, you will be guided towards your wealth. Trusting your good intentions of faith and hope allow your ideal thoughts and essential feelings to freely flow. Trust opens your chakras' 9 inner eyes of truth and love. Trust is not only ideal, but essential for the magic of change and transformation of turning your fears into your wealth. It is in the process of resolving your negative feelings that you will find your treasures. And, the keys to finding your treasures are through persistently seeking your truth.

Trust yourself to stay focused on your own problems. Life is polarity, and the opposite of fear is trust. By paying attention to your fear and understanding all of its negative expressions, you can learn how to use it in your favor. By using your positive thought-feeling energy, you can oscillate out the past negative impressions of your past negative experiences that were based on lies from fear. Your focused attention to your reflective thoughts of truth and attractive feelings of love will process out your past negative impressions of fear from your own (or other people's) bad decisions. Your focused attention to your resistant beliefs of truth and pressured memory vibrations of love oscillates at a higher vibration than fear, and therefore, will process out your past negative impressions. Your darkness of fear, which is all that is unidentified, shows you the contrast of your unrealized light of truth. Truth and love are magic. It is not until you resolve your past layers of hurt feelings that you are truly able to tap into your genuine inner self that has its creative and manifestive power of magic. Truly wealthy people who have been, or are currently, exposed to un-wealthy people are able to become stronger from such exposure. Having the courage to go through and process out the scar tissue of your past negative thoughts and feelings will become your inoculation that will prevent you from making present and future bad decisions. And, it will prevent you from being affected by the bad decisions of un-wealthy people around you.

What Else is in the Way of Your Wealth? We're living in a toxic environment of fear and lies which confuses people from having the ability to identify genuine wealth versus false wealth. Spending time in a positive environment where people have mindsets of good intentions from truth and love affects you. Spending time in a negative environment where people have mindsets of bad intentions from hidden agendas of toxic lies affects you, as well. The inner environment of a person's thoughts and feelings creates and manifests their outer environment. This outer environment is tangibly felt by most people as good vibrations or bad vibrations. Most people can feel an environment of good vibrations from a person who has a mindset of good intentions from their positive imagination of truth and love. Likewise, most people can feel an environment of bad vibrations from a person who has a mindset of bad intentions from their negative imagination of fear and lies.

Living in, working in or being exposed to truthful and loving environments helps you to identify your own thoughts and feelings, which allows you to make good decisions for yourself. Likewise, living in, working in or being exposed to toxic environments of lies prevents you from being able to identify your own thoughts and feelings, which impede you from making good decisions for yourself. Staying tied into people who intentionally lie, clouds your mind from making good clear decisions for yourself.

Identifying People with Good Intentions: You need to be able to identify people with good intentions so that you know that you are not being impeded from making your own good decisions. People with good intentions are already wealthy since they choose to be responsible and resolve their own (and other people's) problems. People with good intentions have no desire to control you and have nothing to gain from you, since they are self-sustaining through their own positive imagination of truth and love.

A wealthy-minded person with good intentions is typically able to identify the difference between right and wrong. People with good intentions seek truth by asking questions in order to help themselves (and other people) resolve problems. This inner process of outer co-creativity creates clarity and manifests purity in their outer environment. A clear and pure environment feels un-oppressed and exciting. People with good intentions are willing to help you make your own good decisions towards your wealth. Why? People with good intentions want you to make good decisions, so you may increase your energy and your resources. This is a wealthy win-win mindset from good intentions of unselfishness. An unselfish mindset is free from the lies of the disease of fear. This environment of clarity and purity is the transparency of co-creative truth and love. The co-creativity of truth and love helps you to make good decisions which are free from any unhealthy strings of attachment.

Identifying People with Bad Intentions: You need to be able to identify people with bad intentions so you will not be influenced to make bad decisions. People with bad intentions are un-wealthy since they choose to not be responsible for resolving their own problems. Why? People with bad intentions intentionally do not resolve their own (or other people's) problems to confuse and control you, so they may drain your energy and resources to sustain their own negative imagination of fear and lies.

An un-wealthy-minded person with bad intentions pretends to be unable to identify the difference between right and wrong. People with bad intentions never seek truth or ask questions in order to hide their lies by intentionally leaving problems unresolved. This inner process of outer co-dependency creates an unclear and manifests an un-pure environment. An unclear and un-pure environment feels oppressive and unexciting. People with bad intentions intentionally distract and drain you from making good decisions towards your wealth. Why? People with bad intentions do not want you to make good decisions so they may have control over your mental-emotional energy and your resources. This is an un-wealthy win-lose mindset from bad intentions of greed and selfishness. A selfish mindset is infected with the lies of the disease of fear. People with bad intentions use the façade of partial truths to hide their co-dependent lies which creates confusion to drain you and your resources. Their co-dependency of lies influences you to make bad decisions, which are full of unhealthy strings of attachment.

Identifying People Who are Being Controlled: People who are unaware of being controlled are unintentionally harboring the disease of fear through unhealthy strings of attachment from co-dependent people with bad intentions. These people who are unaware of being controlled (this could be you) are struggling with pain they are seeking to resolve, since they are unable to identify their co-dependent people who have bad intentions. Yet, the people who are intentionally harboring and perpetuating the disease of fear are not struggling with their pain, as they are controlling and draining other people with positive energy rather than taking responsibility for their own disease of fear. You must be able to identify the difference between people with good intentions, bad intentions and those who are being controlled which mean no harm to you but could negatively influence your decisions. We are not meant to be slaves to our fears or anyone else's. We are meant to use our imagination to rise above any circumstance that does not suit us. The best stimulating and strengthening power of our positive imagination is to identify our own decisions through our inner voice of truth and our inner vision of love. This book aids you wherever you are in your evolutionary process:

1. This book helps you focus on your own inner voice of truth which has the purpose of giving you your best choices. And, it also helps you focus on your own inner vision of love which has the meaning of giving you your best options. Your best choices and options are meant to help you become strong enough to make good decisions of unselfishly dis-attaching yourself from people harboring the disease of fear that are confusing, controlling and draining you from making good decisions for yourself.
2. If you have already unselfishly dis-attached yourself from people harboring the disease of fear, this book will help guide you to heal yourself from the unfortunate effects of past bad decisions that were based on your lies and fear (or by someone else's unhealthy strings of attachment controlling you).

The goal of your unselfish dis-attachment is to allow yourself time to strengthen your individual identity of wealth by reassessing your healthy and unhealthy strings of attachment. Unselfishly dis-attaching yourself from a diseased environment is a necessary decision in order for you to entirely heal, since it is impossible to do so in a toxic environment of lies. As we know, healing is a necessary prerequisite in order for you to become strong enough to magically create and manifest the wealth you desire. The definition of true love is staying focused on your own inner compass of your inner voice of truth and inner vision of love. Your unselfish dis-attachment keeps your focused attention on mentally protecting your inner voice of truth and emotionally nourishing your inner vision of love. By doing this, you hold faith and hope for other people to find their own genuine inner guidance, as well. This creates your truthful balance and manifests your loving alignment, which allow for each person to move forward towards their own wealth.

Consistently Making Good Decisions are Necessary for Your Wealth: The path of genuine inner guidance is one of challenges to help you simultaneously resolve and master your negative aspects of fear through making good decisions. It's a well-known fact that struggle makes us stronger by strengthening our weaknesses. Your path of genuine inner guidance is one that will test you by bringing good and bad influences your way. Attracting Positive Influences: We consciously reflect our strengths in order to attract the positive situations that we do want. Attracting Negative Influences: We subconsciously attract negative situations in order to strengthen our weaknesses. We become consciously aware of what we do not want so we may make new decisions to not attract the same negative situations again in the future. Identifying negative people and situations is a form of educational immunization. The process of identifying what we do not want, by consistently making better decisions, is our inoculation against attracting negative people and situations again in the future. In order to eradicate your unresolved fears, you will go through similar situations from your past so that you may presently make new decisions of empowerment. By developing the skill of finding the positive in the negative, you will find that your treasure is your hidden source of energy to help you make good new decisions by simultaneously realizing your past oppressions. And, your key of persistence unlocks a portion of your treasure each time you make a good new decision.

As you make better decisions each day, you are resolving a portion of your past unresolved negative aspects of fear. By making good new decisions, you continually gain more self-confidence and control over your thought-feeling energy. Your total presence of mind is having the awareness that your unhealthy strings of attachments are from your own unresolved scar tissue of past oppressions. With an unresolved past, your decision making process will initially be through the process of elimination. This is due to the fact that your mind has been clouded from your past unresolved fears. You will realize that your past unresolved fears were imposed upon you through the lie that you did not have choices or options (or that someone intentionally controlled your choices and options through lies). Your past challenges from other people's disease of fear should simply be the fertilizer of determination for your own seeds of imagination to grow, not theirs. In order for your inner seeds of imagination to grow, you will need a healthy outer environment so you may heal your inner environment. Consciously processing out your negative feelings from your past, allows your present seeds of positive imagination to grow for your future wealth.

Making decisions is your own process of understanding and processing out all the toxicity of lies you were exposed to and, unfortunately, it wasn't yours to begin with in the first place. But, wealthy people like yourself are magical and are able to take negative experiences and turn them into something greater, and you're doing it all the time by staying focused on your own solutions instead of perpetuating any problems.

Your conscious mind knows the difference between truth and lies. Your faith refines your good and bad thoughts so you may choose your own individual thoughtful-beliefs to guide you. Trusting your own good thoughts allows you to act on your own inner voice of truth which tells you what you need to do. If things don't work out the way you want them to, there is a reason. You know the reason. You cannot lie to yourself. If the answer is unclear, ask that your truth be revealed to you. The tools provided in this book are just reminders to help you remember what you already know.

Your subconscious mind knows the difference between love and fear. Your hope resolves your good and bad feelings so you may choose your own individual feeling-memory vibrations to guide you. Trusting your own good feelings allows you to react to your own inner vision of love which shows you what you need to do. Your good and bad feelings are your own response-ability for you to resolve. However you feel them, is your God-given gift of guidance. Your love is accepting all of your feelings. You must resolve each and every feeling so that you know the difference between good and bad feelings. All of your feelings have meaning of guidance. Your present negative feelings are connected to your memory vibrations of past unresolved problems. This book is designed to help you own your negative feelings by working through them on your own, in your own way, and on your own path.

Your genuine inner guidance begins by learning to trust yourself again. Follow these simple 9 steps when your mind is caught in one or more negative aspects of fear. These 9 steps are a distillation of the Overview Summary you will be reading in the following chapter:

1. Re-evaluate your own instinctual thought-feeling process of happiness which is communicating a decision of resonant distance to what you want and what you don't want.
2. Re-prioritize your own insightful thought-feeling process of happiness which is communicating a decision of karmic repercussions to what you want and what you don't want.
3. Re-engage your own integral thought-feeling process of health which is communicating a decision of merit to what you want and what you don't want.
4. Realize your own involved thought-feeling process of health which is communicating a decision of your investment of time to what you want and what you don't want.
5. Re-search your own identified thought-feeling process of wealth which is communicating a decision of your self-expression to what you want and what you don't want.
6. Re-consider your own individual thought-feeling process of wealth which is communicating a decision of your expressed vision to what you want and what you don't want.
7. Recognize your own inspired thought-feeling process of love which is communicating a decision of your expressed voice to what you want and what you don't want.
8. Re-gain your own intuitive thought-feeling process of love which is communicating a decision of your summoned channel to what you want and what you don't want.
9. Re-new your own intentional thought-feeling process of wisdom which is communicating a decision of conceptual energy to what you want and what you don't want.

Good Decisions: are the expansive power of your self-expression which feels exciting and life-giving, because you know that you are creating and manifesting your own opportunities. Bad Decisions: are the contractive force of your self-oppression which feels burdensome and life-draining, because you know that you are creating and manifesting regrets. Necessary Decisions: are ones that you make for yourself and others that are difficult for you at the time you make them. Yet, these decisions are ones that you look back on later with better clarity and realize why they were necessary for you to make.

Learning from Our Past: Past advanced civilizations honored truth above all else, because they knew that the fundamental principles of truth would not only attain but sustain lasting wealth for everyone. Genuine wealth is accumulated by having unselfish intentions of helping yourself and other people make good decisions through the co-creative transparency of truth and love. People who acquire genuine wealth by resolving their selfish attachments and greed will ultimately end up with a treasure of happiness, health, wealth, love and wisdom. Our forefathers knew the value of trust, as it is written on our money. We have a present unacceptable environment of fear and lies from past generations of bad decisions that were based on impatience. Bad decisions from our past generations have left a mental, emotional and financial deficit which needs to be replenished. Total presence of mind to make good decisions is needed to fill the debt of unresolved problems from prior generations. Building trust with yourself by making your own good decisions will ultimately save you time, money and energy. And, by presently understanding and resolving your problems from your family's generations of past bad decisions, you accelerate all of the good karma of wealth that wants to come towards you.

By keeping your focused attention on your inner compass, which is your inner voice and inner vision, you will be able to solve every problem that comes your way. The more you develop the skill of using your compass, the easier it becomes to make good decisions. As you are healing, it is necessary for you to focus your attention on keeping out the bad thought-patterns of lies and bad feeling-vibrations of fear originating in your mind (or entering in through other people's negative influences). Minding your own busy-ness of thoughts and feelings is far more beneficial than being distracted and losing time by having to control the damage of bad decisions. Unfortunately, one bad decision can have a ‘snowball-effect’ leading to many more bad decisions. Likewise, good decisions can have a ‘snowball-effect’ leading to many more good decisions. Sooner or later, we all must take responsibility for each and every decision that we make. None of us can afford to make any more bad decisions as it will have a ripple effect into the neural network of our family’s future generations, and ultimately, all of humanity. It is the responsibility of our generation to not only resolve our past problems, but to understand the negative aspects of fear which caused them. Clearly, our unacceptable environment shows us that we presently need to make many good decisions due to generations of past bad decisions. By re-educating people to have the patience to develop a new win-win mindset, we can transform our unacceptable environment of lies from fear into a future of unlimited resources through our own positive imagination.

Learning from Your Own Past: While you may have been a victim of other people’s bad decisions, the true victims are the ones who are continually making bad decisions from their own fear, lies and unresolved problems. You are no longer a victim once you choose to unselfishly dis-attach yourself from un-wealthy people and toxic environments so you may heal and make better decisions toward your goals of wealth. How un-wealthy people influence you:

1. Un-wealthy people take a positive situation and turn it into a negative experience. These intentional actions are their hidden agenda of toxic lies to confuse and control you.
2. These unnatural, untruthful thought-patterns and unloving feeling-vibrations of bad intentions leave a scar tissue from the negative experience in your mind.
3. Your focus of attention wants to resolve the scar tissue in your mind, which naturally leads you to think about the negative experience with the un-wealthy person.
4. Your focus of attention is now on the un-wealthy person, who has intentionally formed an unhealthy string of attachment to control you.
5. Your maintained focus of attention to the negative experience allows you to become receptive to their fear and lies, which controls your thought-feeling energy and drains your resources.

Un-wealthy people are their own victims from their false beliefs of unworthiness; this caused them to give up the compass of their inner voice and inner vision. When they gave up their compass, they allowed themselves to become susceptible to the negative thought-patterns of lies and feeling-vibrations of fear. By ignoring their compass, they have become fearful and lost and are now looking to you to sustain their energy due to their own draining false identity of lies.

Un-wealthy people are projecting their lies from fear and unresolved problems onto you. These projections of lies from their mental passions and emotional pains are, in fact, tangibly felt by you. You can cut and heal these unhealthy strings of attachment by making new decisions of self-empowerment. If you do not resolve your own scar tissue of passion and pain from the negative experiences by these un-wealthy people, your mind will have the same toxic environment for fear and confusing lies to exist. Why do un-wealthy people need to project their passions and pains onto you? Because they do not have the mental-emotional strength or tools to resolve their negative aspects of fear and they are clearly unable and/or unwilling to make better decisions. By listening to the clarity of your inner voice of truth you cut your unhealthy strings of attachment and heal by moving forward. Your conscious mind’s scar tissue of passion will change into your future compassion of truth. And, by seeing the purity of your inner vision of love, your subconscious mind’s scar tissue of pain will transform into your future pleasure of love. As you can see, your magic of truth and love has the ability to cut your unhealthy strings of attachment so you may heal and move forward towards your wealth.

Your Microcosm of Decisions Affects the Macrocosm of Humanity: Your future wealth is dependent upon the decisions that you make. And, you may find that there are some difficult necessary decisions that you have to make in order for you to have the freedom from the unhealthy strings of attachment tying you into your own (or other people's) fear and lies. Each decision that we make affects not only ourselves, but our outer environment and other people, as well.

Impatient decisions take away our balance of truthful thoughts and alignment of loving feelings, which cause us to lose control of our focused attention. The false belief of not having enough time to make good decisions has caused our environment of lies from our negative aspects of fear that have affected us all. Generations of learned impatience have caused us to lose our presence of mind to make good decisions. Our inherent impatience has caused us to lose our focus of attention, which we now so easily give away to any distraction that comes our way. Our focused attention needs to be where it belongs: on minding our own busy-ness of our thought-feeling process in order to make good new decisions. Not having your focused attention on your thought-feeling energy is giving away your decision making power, which is needed for your future wealth. Keeping your focused attention where it belongs allows your mental balance of truth and emotional alignment of love to freely flow and make good decisions. Being responsible for your own personal balance and alignment is your microcosm contributing to the greater good of the macrocosm. The process of making good decisions to resolve your problems becomes your genuine inner guidance towards wealth. The more that we buy into the lie of needing to make impatient decisions, the more pressure we will feel from our negative aspects of fear. Impatience comes from the lie that we will not eventually have everything that our hearts desire. Instead, our impatient decisions end up manifesting everything that we do not want which perpetuates our negative imagination of lies and fear.

By taking your time to make the good decisions that previous generations of impatience did not, your microcosm of decisions will change the future history of the macrocosm of humanity. Whether intentional or not, we now have global issues from generations of past bad decisions that had their origins in fear. In order for future generations to be free from the disease of fear, we must strive to understand and resolve its negative aspects. We have nothing to gain but wisdom by finding new ways to help people rebalance their mental thoughts of truth and realign their emotional feelings of love, so that they may have a balanced and aligned thought-feeling process to make new decisions that are not only good for themselves, but for other people as well. Prevention and maintenance of helping each other make good choices is dependent upon the education of those very skills versus creating an environment that is counter-productive to that process.

By making new patient decisions, we consciously process out all of our negative aspects of fear which rewires our neural network into one of wealthy decisions. After we have given ourselves enough time and space to heal, we will ultimately see that un-wealthy people who have hurt us are in tremendous pain from their own false identity of lies. The current problem we now face is that humankind is making degenerative decisions that are based on each person's mental-emotional scar tissue which resides in their minds from their past unresolved problems. Impatient decisions from passion and pain demand instant gratification, which ends up becoming selfish intentions of greed. The scar tissue of pain in each person's mind from their past unresolved problems is felt as stressful discomfort in their bodies. Unresolved pain distorts people's perceptions to a lesser or larger degree, and therefore, the level of each person's unresolved pain translates into their inability to understand the difference between right and wrong. The disease of lies needs the right mental-emotional environment to exist. And, unresolved mental-emotional scar tissue is the perfect environment for the false identity of lies to proliferate. Accepting the false identity of lies offers its victim an illusion of resolving their pain which creates more problems of greed. By taking the time to help the victims in our society, we will collectively be creating a new future that will be inoculated against the disease of fear. By helping victims make good decisions of not identifying themselves with their false identity of lies from the scar tissue of their painful past, we begin to help each other to not only heal, but to become enlightened.

We need to be able to identify people who are already severely imbalanced and misaligned through many years of their own bad decisions from their false identity of lies. Developing accessible programs to help people reconnect to their genuine self is the most compassionate form of understanding those that have hurt us through their own bad decisions. We need to understand the history behind the people who are making hurtful decisions for themselves and others. By helping people identify their impatient decisions as the early stages of the disease of fear, we can help prevent future disasters. Education is our preventative medicine and maintaining awareness of making good decisions through understanding our ancestors' history is necessary to move forward in our evolutionary process.

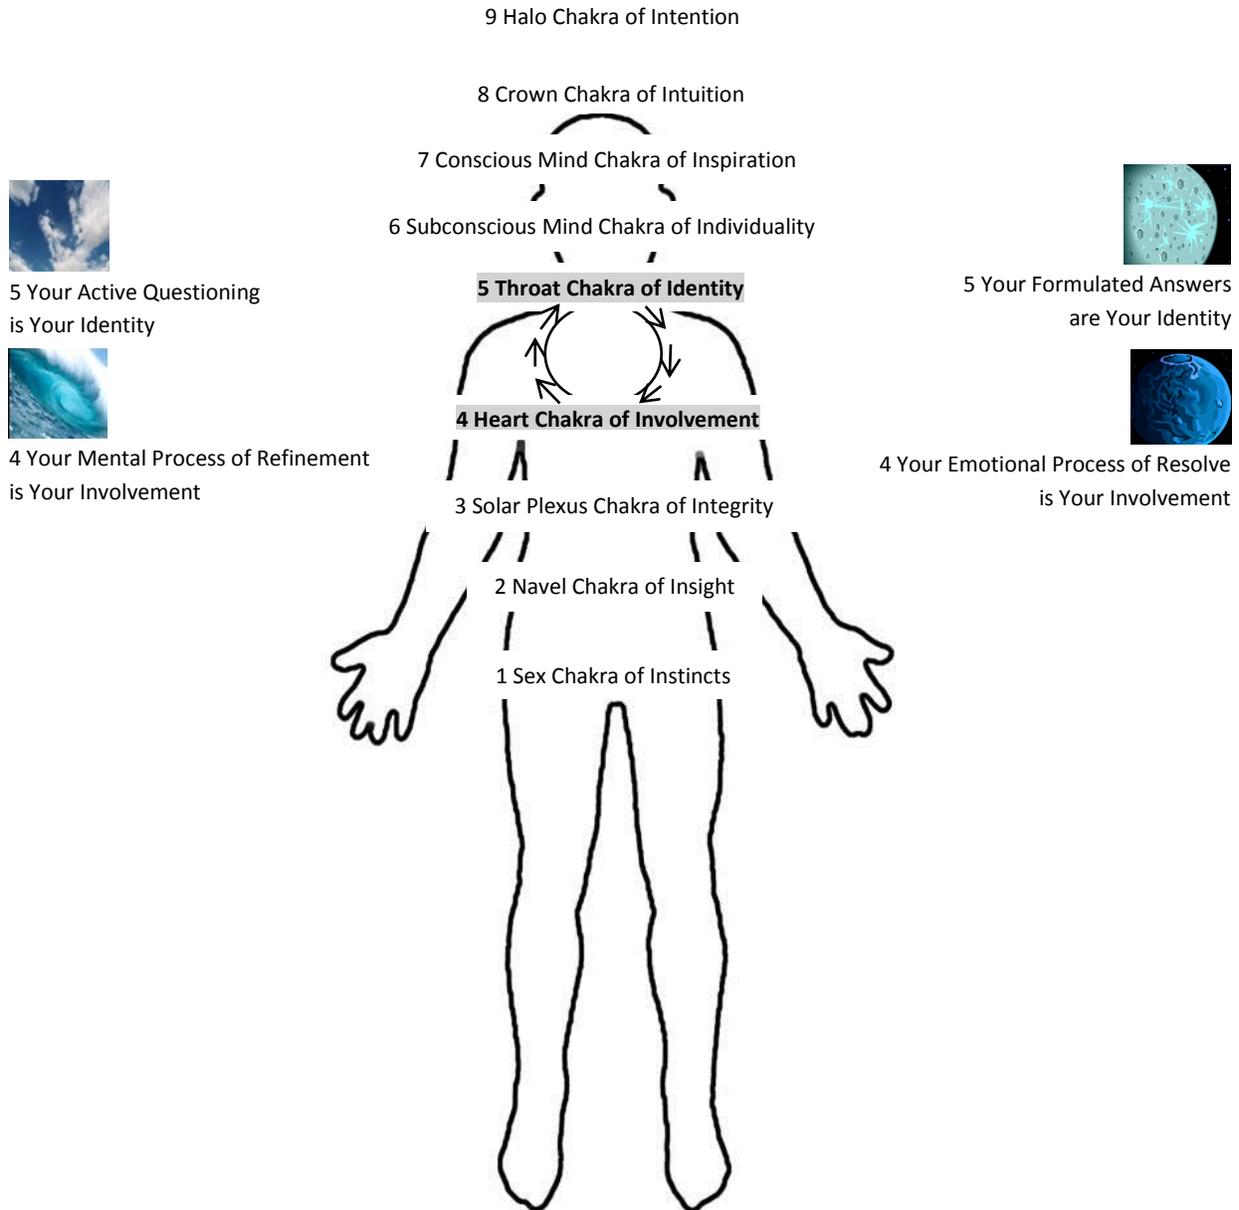

We are all here to share our treasures of wealth with each other. By using our inner compasses, we will all find our inner treasures that we have to share. Your microcosm of decisions that are based on your new thought-patterns of truth and feeling-vibrations of love will change and transform the macrocosm of humanity. And, your new decisions from your action-response of truth will create and your reaction-response of love will manifest a ripple effect in the neural network of the collective conscious and subconscious of humanity, as well.

True Lasting Wealth: Earning your own trust by being patient and making good new decisions will bring you true lasting wealth. Taking a 'time-out' now, to resolve your past and present problems, will ultimately save you time, energy and resources in your future. Making decisions that you will be proud of, will become a part of your true lasting wealth that no one can ever take away from you. Gaining your own self-respect is about the quality of good decisions that you make each day. Your decisions from truth and love are simply your good intentions at work. Eventually, you will have a self-sustaining energy of love by seeking your own truth regardless of other people's bad choices. By intentionally re-engaging your life, you will find that your path of genuine inner guidance will strip away all of your lies through re-experiencing similar unresolved fears. This process enables you to identify and resolve the lies and fear from your past. The more layers of lies that you strip away, the more presence of mind you will have to make better decisions. The better decisions you make, the more you will enjoy your journey towards wealth.

By going through the process of working through your fears, you will remember who you are, what you came here to do, and what you came here to enjoy. Fear is the unknown, which can be properly interpreted as an exciting adventure by learning to trust your new decisions. Working through your unresolved negative aspects of fear gives you inner clarity of truth to create and inner purity of love to manifest what is genuinely wealthy to you. Your process of mastery over your fear is a daily challenge that becomes easier. As we know, fear is simply a signal for you to refocus your attention on increasing your inner resistance of faith and inner pressure of hope. Having the resistance of faith and pressure of hope is the best way to genuinely move you forward towards your wealth. Both positive and negative experiences serve you to develop your skillful ability to identify what you do and do not want, both of which stimulate and strengthen the inner compass of your positive imagination. By understanding what you do and do not want, your conscious mind emits new thought-patterns and your subconscious mind emits new feeling-vibrations. The combination of these two creates and manifests your new frequency of thought-patterns and feeling-vibrations of wealth. By focusing on your skill of making good new decisions, you will learn how to own all of your energy by resolving your past fears. By understanding and owning your energy, you will know exactly where it belongs so you may create and manifest your own identity of wealth. By following the compass of your inner voice and inner vision on your newfound path of genuine inner guidance, you will enjoy more happiness, health, wealth, love and wisdom each and every day on your path towards true lasting wealth.
