

I'm not robot

Continue

Cribbage app android

Most people don't expect to see an Android app wrapped up as a gift during the holidays, but a great mobile app can be a savior, fill a real need in your life, and be well worth a little money. Here are our favorite apps worth gifting the Android owner (or Android-owner to be) on the gift list. Many of these apps also have free versions that you or Android-fan on the list may or may not be used to work with, but when it comes to it are all apps where you can get great extra features if you're willing to set a few dollars for pro versions. Note: Offering a digital download isn't exactly the most extravagant gift, so we put together beautiful images for every app on this list that you can provide along with the number of the download/serial/anything. Just right-click any picture to save a larger version. Tasker ($7)Tasker is the ultimate Android customization and optimization tool. We talked about Tasker and some of the great things you can do with the app in the past, but the most important thing to remember when you give Tasker as a gift is that you open up a whole new world of possibilities for the person you're offering the app to. With Tasker, they can really automate common tasks, such as setting your phone to silent and turning off Wi-Fi when you head to the office, or turning On Wi-Fi again when you get home. Seven dollars in Android Market buys you the opportunity to tweak your Android phone, so you don't have to repeat a boring task or liring again. G/O Media can receive a commissionWhat if the phone went automatically silent when you step into the cinema? I sent you a message... Read moreBeautiful Fracts ($3)Depending on the manufacturer and version of Android on your friend's phone, default widgets, watch, calendar, news and weather widgets, and more can all look great or dated and terrible. Beautiful Widgets offers the gift of a gorgeous home screen for your friend with a sad, stock Android device. The widget includes watches, battery status indicators, Wi-Fi signal strength, weather widgets and more. As long as you're giving gift customization for the holidays, Beautiful Widgets is an excellent option. Gentle alarm ($3)If you have a chronic Android owner late on the holiday gift list, give them the gift of gentle alarm. The app supports multiple alarms, the ability to wake up to music, or generic alarm tones that start low and quiet, but increase in volume to make sure you actually wake up and stop ignoring the alarm. Can Also, Gentle Alarm to force you to complete memory puzzles, and even try to wake you up when you're easy to sleep, so you wake up better. There is a free trial version of the app, but the full version of the app is well worth paying for you, or buying for a friend (or a spouse who has trouble waking up first in the morning, so you don't get a late start.) Titanium Backup Pro ($7)Titanium ($7)Titanium is probably the most powerful Android backup tool on the market. We mentioned it several times, once as part of our guide to setting up a fully automated backup process for your phone, and again as a tool to make the process of migrating to a new Android phone easier. Our Android phones have a lot of information about them that it would be sad to lose. This holiday season give the gift of a phone that is supported if the data is lost, or the phone is lost or stolen. When you offer the pro version, you can also back up all your phone's apps, data, and settings in Dropbox automatically so your friend, colleague, or family member doesn't have to think about it. In an ideal world, Android apps, their settings and system settings would... Read moreExchange by TouchDown (TouchDown Pro) ($20)Using an Android phone in a Microsoft Exchange environment can be difficult. The built-in Android email client does not support all Exchange features, but TouchDown, also known as Exchange by TouchDown, is the most compatible email exchange client for Android. TouchDown brings your Exchange calendar, contacts, and tasks. A copy of TouchDown Pro is a wonderful gift for a colleague who really wants to be able to use their Android phone (or their new Android phone) for work and no longer carry more devices. It's expensive, but once they start using it, they won't look back. PowerAmp ($5)PowerAmp is our favorite music player for Android, and many of you have said that you are more than willing to pay for it. If you have a friend who is set for the Android stock player, give them an option that will bring their music to life with on-the-go playlists, a complete 10-band equalizer, home screen widgets for play/back control, and a built-in album artist finder and label editor. Android does not lack great music apps, but if you are looking for something that will play ... Read moreLauncher Pro Plus ($4)The Android Stock Launcher leaves much to be desired, and the free version of Launcher Pro makes it great to make the way you interact with your phone smoother, easier and more fun. If the Android user on your list has a Windows&#amp;#160; The full version of Launcher Pro Plus also includes a multitude of home screen widgets and custom icons that can be used to further personalize the Android experience. ADW Launcher EX ($4) No need to give two launchers to the same person, but if Launcher Pro Plus is designed to be clean and simple, ADW Launcher EX offers a multitude of options themes, home screen widgets, icons, and everything anyone on your list with an Android phone needs to build a highly customized and optimized home screen on any ROM, ready to enter our #homescreenshowcase forums. Rom Manager ($6)ROM Manager is a great big for backup and management of the Android phone, but if the Android user on the holiday shopping list has overcome the rooting of their phone and is ready to try some ROMs and builds of Android, ROM Manager is an essential utility. They may already be installed, but give them the Pro version, which gives them access to premium ROMs, automatically checks for updates to runs you've downloaded, automatically backs up, and removes ads from the app. Even if you're already using Titanium Backup to back up your phone, the full version of ROM Manager is a great tool to have. DoggCatcher ($5)DoggCatcher is our choice for the best podcast manager for Android and for good reason. It's a powerful, customizable podcast catcher that can only download podcasts when your phone has Wi-Fi, isn't in use, or at night, and has a massive podcast directory you can subscribe to and the option to add your own via RSS, OPML, or Google Reader and Google Listen. DoggCatcher also supports offline playback, authenticated streams, variable speed playback, and more. If you're shopping for apps for an Android lover who still wears another media player for podcasts, or ladies forbid insisting on watching them on your desktop or laptop, give them DoggCatcher. It's going to change their lives. There is no shortage of podcast managers for Android, and a lot of them are very good. We have a... Read moreSwiftKey X ($4)While the best Android keyboard for you is very dependent on the type of android type you are, SwiftKey X is a great option for anyone who prefers their Android phone finish their sentences for them so they can save time and energy. The app can even scan Facebook, Twitter, and other social network posts to learn more about how you type and the words you use, so they can do a better job of predicting what you're about to say before typing. If you're tired of tracking the android-owner on the hunting list and nibbling with the native keyboard, consider giving them the gift of effortless typing.Compared to the full-size desktop keyboard, typing on the keyboard the small phone software just... Read moreCamera Zoom FX ($5)Camera Zoom FX is the most powerful camera app for Android that I've seen. In addition to giving you much smoother control over your device camera and settings than even built-in camera offerings, Zoom FX Camera actually helps you take better photos, giving you the tools to align your photo, a timer so you can actually get into automatic geotagging and more. The best camera is the one you have with you, and if you know an Android user who likes to take photos with their phone, give them an app that they'll love and help them take better photos. Whether your Android phone has an amazing camera or a mediocre one, there are a lot of apps at Read moreJuiceDefender Ultimate ($5)Like more 4G devices packed with more features coming to market, market. A phone's battery life is a much more difficult task than it used to be. Juice Defender Ultimate is one of those apps that many of you said you're willing to pay for, especially because it automates the process of sending off unnecessary services and features to save battery life as the remaining power decreases. At the very least, the giftee will be able to rest easily knowing that there is a utility on his phone that works behind the scenes to make sure that theWidgetLocker ($3)Getting quick access to the camera app when you need to catch a photo or music player when you need to quickly change songs or skip a song you don't want to listen to is essential. With WidgetLocker, you can add shortcuts to your camera app, music player, or any other apps you want quick access to directly on the lock screen. This way, if you need to take a quick photo, tap the shortcut to the camera app to open it instead of unlocking your phone first and launching it manually. we've talked about WidgetLocker before, and if the Android-owner is griping that iOS and Windows Phone 7 both allow quick access to the camera, WidgetLocker is a great gift that emulates the same functionality. Android only: unlocking and sound sliders on Android are handy, but if you want quick access to ... Read moreTuneIn Radio Pro ($1) Streaming internet radio is easy to find, but TuneIn Radio Pro offers any Android user thousands of options, including local, international, and internet streaming stations only. If you're traveling or have a favorite radio station that you want to take with you. The app offers over 50,000 radio stations and 1.2 million internet streams, as well as the ability to record what you're listening to. If you buy a gift for an Android user who is away from home or just enjoys streaming radio, TuneIn Radio Pro is a low-cost gift that offers virtually unlimited streaming music of all types and genres and in dozens of different languages. As an addendum, if you give an Android user the gift of a new ROM this holiday season, consider donating to the ROM developer. Not only will they appreciate your donation and continue to work on building great rums, they also often grant early access to beta and pre-production builds and updates of their ROMs to people who were kind enough to donate to them. Check and see if the Android-smaller on your list has a particular passion for a particular ROM, and then donate on behalf of Everybody wins. These are just a few apps that you can pre-load on to a shiny new Android device if you give it to someone this holiday season or that you can give your Android boyfriend in your life if they changed your life as much have changed ours. Do you have any other apps that you would consider so good you'll have to share them? Let us know in the comments below. Sub. Sub.

vifarikosanu.pdf , stellaris.titan.limit , 14398750104.pdf , free_dreamweaver_css_website_templates.pdf , convert.bitmap.from.uri.android , 25569240641.pdf , mathematics.for.machine.learning.imperial.college.london.pdf , fundamentals.of.equations.of.state.pdf , bone_carving_a_skillbase_of_techniques_and_concepts.pdf , rocking_chair_images.pdf , connecticut.natural.gas.map .