1. What information do we collect from you?

In order to better provide you with our numerous services, we collect two types of information about our users: Personally Identifiable Information and Non-Personally Identifiable Information. Our primary goal in collecting information from you is to provide you with a smooth, efficient and customized experience while using our site.

Personally Identifiable Information: This refers to information that lets us know the specifics of who you, your vendors and/or your employees, are. When you engage in certain activities on this site, such as registering for our service, submitting and/or posting content, requesting a demonstration of our service, filling out a survey, or sending us feedback, we may ask you to provide certain information about yourself by filling out and submitting an online form. It is completely optional for you to engage in these activities. If you elect to engage in these activities, however, we may ask that you provide us billing information, EIN number, Bank information, order form information, vendor information, personal information, such as your first and last name, work title, company name, company size, business mailing address (including zip code), telephone and facsimile numbers, email address for employees and additional information (e.g. names, addresses, date of birth, social security number, telephone numbers and other personal identifying information) for your employees. Depending upon the activity, some of the information we ask you to provide is identified as mandatory and some as voluntary. If you do not provide the mandatory data with respect to a particular activity, you will not be able to engage in that activity.

Non-Personally Identifiable Information: This refers to information that does not by itself identify a specific individual. We gather certain information about you based upon where you visit on our site in several ways. This information is compiled and analyzed on both a personal and an aggregated basis. This information may include the Web site's Uniform Resource Locator ("URL") that you just came from, which URL you go to next, what browser you are using, and your Internet Protocol ("IP") address. An URL is the global address of documents and other resources on the World Wide Web. An IP address is an identifier for a computer or device on a Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol ("TCP/IP") network, such as the World Wide Web. Networks like the Web use the TCP/IP protocol to route information based on the IP address of the destination. In other words, an IP address is a number that is automatically assigned to your computer whenever you are surfing the web, allowing web servers to locate and identify your computer. Computers require IP addresses in order for users to communicate on the Internet.

2. Where do we collect information from you and how do we use it?

We do not collect any Personally Identifiable Information about you unless you voluntarily provide it to us. You provide certain Personally Identifiable Information to us when you: (a) register for our services and register your e-mail address with us; (b) request a demonstration of our service; (c) sign up for special offers from selected third parties; (d) send e-mail messages, submit forms or transmit other information by telephone or letter; or (e) submit your credit card or other payment information when ordering and purchasing products and services on our site (although such data is transmitted directly to our credit card vendor, and never stored on the Site). We may also collect information from you at other points on our site that state that such information is being collected.

We may also collect certain Non-Personally Identifiable Information. This information is ultimately stored in the form of categories, and, in some cases, specific URLs. We use your IP address to diagnose problems with our servers, software, to administer our site and to gather demographic information.

We will use your Personally Identifiable Information to provide our services to you, as required by our agreements with you. We will also use Personally Identifiable Information to enhance the operation of our site, fill orders, improve our marketing and promotional efforts, statistically analyze and improve our product and service offerings, and customize our site's content, layout, and services. We may use Personally Identifiable Information to deliver information to you and to contact you regarding administrative notices. We may also use Personally Identifiable Information to resolve disputes, troubleshoot problems and enforce our agreements with you, including our Site Terms and Conditions of Use, Consent and Authorization Form and this Privacy Policy.

We may also process personal information to provide our products and services to users, such as audit, research and analyze data to maintain, protect and improve our services; ensure the technical functioning of our network; and developing new services. You can find more information about how we process personal information by referring to the Consent and Authorization Form for particular services.

3. With whom do we share your information?

We do not sell, trade, or rent your Personally Identifiable Information to others without your consent. We do provide some of our services through contractual arrangements with affiliates, services providers, business partners and other third parties. We will collectively use your Personally Identifiable Information to operate our sites and to deliver our services. For example, credit card information, bank information and EIN numbers are directly provided to the card-issuing bank and/or third-party payment provider (e.g. Stripe, Bill Pay) to confirm payment for products and services purchased on this site. In these examples, we do not store such sensitive information, and merely store tokens for third-party accounts to provide our services to you.

We may use your Personally Identifiable Information to improve the functionality and feature in our existing and future services and products and improve our advertising. Notwithstanding the foregoing sentence, we shall not publicly disclose any Personally Identifiable Information and the use of such Personally Identifiable Information shall be anonymized.

We will encourage our service partners to adopt and post privacy policies. However, the use of your Personally Identifiable Information by our service partners is governed by the privacy policies of those service partners, and is not subject to our control.

Occasionally we may be required by law enforcement or judicial authorities to provide Personally Identifiable Information to the appropriate governmental authorities. We will disclose Personally Identifiable Information upon receipt of a court order, subpoena, or to cooperate with a law enforcement investigation. We fully cooperate with law enforcement agencies in identifying those who use our services for illegal activities. We reserve the right to report to law enforcement agencies any activities that we in good faith believe to be unlawful.
