San Antonio Genealogical and Historical Society and Library

The San Antonio Genealogical and Historical Society was chartered in 1959. SAGHS maintains an outstanding library of over 17,000 books. We publish an award-winning semiannual journal, and conduct educational seminars, classes and workshops. In addition, through its First Families of Bexar County Program, it recognizes descendants of people who were in Bexar County in 1850 or before.

Learn More! At our new Dwyer Center (adjacent to the Library) classes, workshops, and seminars are offered throughout the year featuring local and national speakers. At monthly member meetings local experts speak about genealogy and local history topics.

Celebrate ancestors! Honor the First Families of Bexar County—people who have proved their descent from an ancestor who was in Bexar County prior to August 1850.

The San Antonio Genealogical and Historical Society library is situated in an historic Spanish colonial revival house in north central San Antonio. The library houses a rich international collection of books, periodicals, maps and other materials. The library is open to the public four days a week — including weekends — with free parking and lovely facilities and grounds. Society librarians are on duty to assist whether you are a beginning genealogist or more experienced researcher. We invite you to come in and explore our extensive collections onsite or view the catalog online at our website.

Books

The SAGHS library includes an extensive collection of genealogical and historical books covering nearly all of the United States plus England, Ireland, Scotland, Germany, Canada and Mexico. Texas titles include general state historical material as well as hundreds of Texas publications such as county histories and vital records. Other states well represented are Virginia, North and South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Maryland and New York. The catalog is viewable online on our website.

Periodicals and Journals

The library has a huge collection of periodicals from 45 states and hundreds of counties, including the National Genealogical Society Quarterly, The American Genealogist, and The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record.

City Directories

The collection includes city directories for 48 Texas cities and towns as well as a few cities and counties outside of Texas and assorted phone directories.

Vertical Files

Our vertical files contain valuable family records of deeds, vital records, wills, military papers, obituaries, and more...and they are nearly all digitized, to be viewed on Library computers, with a searchable index!

Family History Books

The library has nearly 2,000 books featuring published and unpublished family histories, genealogies and lineages from Texas and other states.

Maps

Over 600 historical maps of many states dating from the colonial period to 19th century are in the library.
