SANTA FE ART INSTITUTE presents
a 2006 Paper Arts Winter Workshop
Text and Image in Artist's Books with Carol Tyroler,
Workshop Dates: March 18-19 from 10-4 daily
Cost of Workshop: $ 200, Scholarships are Available.

Text and Image in Artist's Books

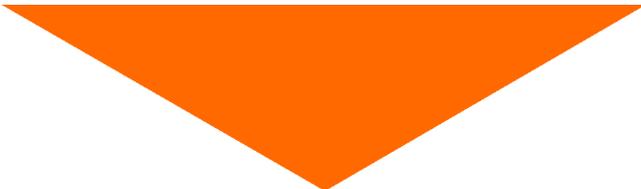

Using simple printmaking and bookbinding techniques this workshop will focus on combining text and image to develop a work that will focus on words, their meanings, and the images we associate with them. The content can be personal or you can work with similar issues in the public arena. We will start with some writing exercises to establish the text and then work out how to combine it with the images made, using monoprints and transfer printing techniques. The books will be bound using Japanese binding techniques.

The workshop will run from March 18-19, 10-4 daily.

Carol Tyroler

For over 16 years Carol Tyroler has worked with paper and book artists throughout the U.S., Mexico, Brazil, Ecuador, and Vietnam. She is the founder of Amatl Papers, a community-based development project with the Otomi papermakers of San Pablito, Mexico. She has studied papermaking with Timothy Barrett, and book arts at Penland School of Art and Craft. She has taught in various studios including Chicago Book Works, Dieu Donne, Women's Studio Workshop, and the Corcoran School of Art and Design. Currently, she is teaching paper and book arts at Santa Fe Community College and continues to work with artisans and promote sustainable craft development around the globe.
