ABOUT US |

WHO WE ARE

Head in the Clouds was founded in 2025 by Janet Yang, an interior designer and mother of 2 with 15 years of design experience strategizing future amenity and wellness concepts for large corporations like Google and WeWork.

After experiencing burnout in the corporate world, she was inspired to create a healing experience that honors her cultural heritage while serving those seeking authentic wellness in her neighborhood of Williamsburg Brooklyn.

Today, Head in the Clouds transcends the traditional head spa concept—it's an immersive sanctuary where ancient healing wisdom meets modern design expertise.

WHAT WE DO

Experiences rooted in tradition

The Head Spa begins with an advanced AI analysis that provides a comprehensive report of our client's scalp condition, offering precise insights into their unique needs and concerns.

Following this assessment, clients participate in a personalized tea steaming ritual where they collaborate with our practitioners to customize their own blend of healing herbs—selecting from traditional botanicals based on both their wellness intentions.

Expert therapeutic techniques are then applied within our thoughtfully designed sensory space, where the aromatic steam from your custom herbal blend mingles with curated aromatherapy, creating an immersive environment that releases tension, promotes circulation, and restores balance.

This fusion of cutting-edge technology, ancient herbal wisdom, and masterful technique creates a truly personalized journey that treats not just your scalp, but your entire sense of well-being.

THE SPACE

From Factory Floor to Sacred Space

Where industrial heritage meets organic wellness.

What was once a plaster factory has been lovingly transformed into our Head Spa studio. We've woven the factory's industrial soul into our organic modern design, preserving the beautiful bones of this historic space.

The original steel floors turned into doors now greet our guests, and the weathered wooden beams that supported now accents the head spa studio rooms with warmth and character. Even the owners dog tags were preserved on the wooden beams.

The raw authenticity of these industrial elements creates the perfect counterpoint to our botanical bar, where organic products and natural herbs await to heal your hair and scalp. It's a beautiful contrast – history holding healing.
