Welcome to 1964 Palmerston Place, a truly rare Los Feliz offering where timeless architecture, rich history, and modern infrastructure come together in one extraordinary residence.

Originally designed and occupied by its architect owner, this distinguished property was thoughtfully created as both a residence and professional workspace.

The architect lived upstairs while operating his office from the lower level, establishing a live-work concept decades ahead of its time. Throughout its history, the home has had only three owners, a remarkable testament to its enduring appeal. The second owner was a skilled plumber, whose stewardship contributed to the home's well-maintained systems
