This custom log home on Lake McConaughy was designed as a family retreat. It was featured in Colorado Expression Magazine: "Lake McConaughy Log Home: Remarkable Home is a Family Labor of Love". Click on the Documents tab to read the feature. The premier-view lot was purchased, the old A-Frame home removed and construction of the custom Idaho Lodge Log Home began.

Surprises that appear by design to others were part of the owner's masterful plan. The prow of the home was extended for better vistas of the lake and creates a feeling that the lake is part of the home. The wrap-around deck was expanded and extends from the master bedroom to the spacious gazebo featuring a gas firepit and stairs leading to the location, protected from the wind, as the adjacent lot is common ground that is planted with beautiful pine trees. Lake McConaughy is just a pleasant three-hour drive from Denver, located 9 miles north of Ogallala near US Highway 26 and Nebraska Highway 61. Lake Mac offers a full array of water sports, boating, camping, and fishing! Images of water sports are from various public sources with no copyright infringement intended.
