Subject: Message Regarding Recent Media Article

Attached to this email is a copy of the recent USA Today article, which detailed various incidents of misconduct and criminal behavior by Federal Air Marshal employees. I am sure you are just as personally and professionally embarrassed by these incidents as I am.

I know that the vast majority of you are dedicated professionals who consider the Federal Air Marshal Service as more than just a job, but a patriotic mission. You are willing to risk your lives to protect your fellow Americans, who I am sure deeply appreciate your service to them.

In order to maintain the trust and confidence of our fellow Americans we must dedicate ourselves to root out and report any instance of misconduct or criminal behavior. The public expects nothing less than adherence to the highest professional standards; we must demand no less from ourselves.
