Defense of Freedom Medal Ceremony IPR

02 February, 2007

Secretary of Defense Medal for the Defense of Freedom

1. Purpose: The Secretary of Defense Medal for the Defense of Freedom is established to acknowledge civilian employees of the Department of Defense (DoD) who are killed or wounded in the line of duty. The medal symbolizes the extraordinary fidelity and essential service of the Department's civilian workforce who are an integral part of DoD and who contribute to the preservation of national security.

2. Description: The Army's Institute of Heraldry developed the medal.

a. Medal: The eagle and shield exemplify the principles of freedom and the defense of these freedoms on which our country is founded. The laurel is emblematic of honor and high achievement.

b. Ribbon: Red, white, and blue are our National colors. The red stripes commemorate valor and sacrifice. The wide blue stripe represents strength. The white stripes symbolize liberty as represented in our national flag. The number of red stripes represents the four terrorist attacks using hijacked airplanes, and the single blue stripe represents the terrorist attack on the pentagon on September 11, 2001. This day, more than ever, united this country and brought to the forefront our heroic civilians.

3. Certificate: A certificate signed by the Secretary of the Army will accompany the medal.

4. Eligibility: The medal shall be awarded to any DoD civilian employee meeting the definition of "employee" under title 5 United States Code, Section 2105, and who is eligible for an award under DoD 1400.25-M, Subchapter 451, "Awards," including employees of non-appropriated fund activities, when killed or wounded by hostile action while serving under any competent authority of the Department under conditions such as the following: (1) In any action against an enemy of the United States, (2) In any action with an opposing armed force of a foreign country in which the Armed Forces of the United States are or have been engaged, (3) While serving with friendly foreign forces engaged in an armed conflict against an opposing armed force in which the United States is not a belligerent party, (4) As a result of an act of any such enemy of opposing armed forces, (5) As the result of an act of any hostile foreign force, (6) After 28 March 1973, as a result of an international terrorist attack against the United States or a foreign nation friendly to the United States, recognized as such an attack by the Secretary of Army, or jointly by the Secretaries of the separate armed services concerned if persons from more than one service are wounded in the attack, (7) After 28 March 1973, as a result of military operations while serving outside the territory of the United States as part of a peacekeeping force.

5. Criteria: Eligibility criteria for the medal are aligned as closely as possible to those for the Purple Heart for members of the Armed Forces; this medal differs from other medals in that it is not "recommended." The employee is "entitled" to the medal if the employee is eligible under Section 4 and if the conditions or criteria in this paragraph are present. Hostile action may involve, but is not limited to, the use of conventional or nuclear weapons, chemical or biological agents, explosives, or missiles. The medal shall be awarded to employees who are killed or who sustain serious injury due to hostile action against the United States of America, or killed or wounded while rescuing or attempting to rescue any other employee or individual subjected to injuries sustained under such conditions. The wound for which the award is made must have required treatment by a medical officer, and records of medical treatment for wounds or injuries received in action must have been made a matter of official record.

6. Limitations on Awarding Medal: The medal is authorized for the incident of death or the first wound suffered under the conditions indicated above. The medal itself may be awarded only once; however, for subsequent events that would require the award of the medal, a device will be awarded to attach to the ribbon of the medal.

7. Posthumous Awards: The medal may be awarded posthumously and, when so awarded, may be presented to a representative of the deceased member's family.

8. Responsibility and Approval: The Secretary of the Army is the approval authority for this award, except when it involves contractor employee(s). All nominations for government employees will be reviewed by an ad hoc board consisting of the following: One civilian Senior Executive Service member, one General Officer military representative, and one medical professional.
