SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

This notice is for a new information collection.

The Department of the Interior (DOI) owns and manages over 185 million artifacts, scientific specimens, and documents in trust for the American public—a collection size that rivals the Smithsonian Institution. This diverse collection consists of archaeological artifacts, archives, art, biological specimens, ethnographic objects, geological specimens, historic objects, and paleontological specimens that are held by ten of DOI's bureaus and offices. The majority of DOI's collections are housed in bureau facilities; however, over ten percent (more than 19 million objects and 11,000 cubic feet of objects) are housed by at least 839 non-Federal repositories, the majority of which are museums associated with, or departments of, U.S. colleges and universities. Most are scientific collections from the disciplines of archaeology, biology, geology, and paleontology and include associated archival records.

DOI museum collections, regardless of where they are housed, must be managed according to preservation, documentation, educational, and other requirements in the public interest. These requirements are mandated by a number of Federal laws, regulations, and policies, notably: Act for the Preservation of American Antiquities of 1906 (Antiquities Act) (16 USC 431-433); Historic Sites Act of 1935 (16 USC 461-467); Management of Museum Properties Act of 1955, as amended (16 USC 18f); National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, as amended (16 USC 470 et seq.); Archeological and Historic Preservation Act of 1974, as amended (16 USC 469-469I-2); Archaeological Resources Protection Act of 1979, as amended (16 USC 470aa-mm); Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act of 1990 (25 USC 3001-3013); Paleontological Resources Preservation Act (PRPA); Curation of Federally-Owned and Administered Archaeological Collections (36 CFR Part 79); and the Department of the Interior Departmental Manual, Part 411: Identifying and Managing Museum Property (411 DM).

411 DM, which implements the Federal laws and regulations noted above, requires the following information be collected, used, and retained by all bureaus that hold ownership of museum collections: Facility Checklist for Spaces Housing DOI Museum Property; catalog records; accession records; and inventories of museum collections. These requirements apply to all DOI museum collections regardless of each collection's location (DOI facility or non-DOI facility) or the personnel that accomplished the work (DOI staff, contractors, partners, cooperators, agencies, institutions, or similar organizations associated with the Department).
