[Docket No. FDA-2015-D-3787]

Information to Support a Claim of Electromagnetic Compatibility of Electrically-Powered Medical Device; Guidance for Industry and Food and Drug Administration Staff; Availability

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA or Agency) is announcing the availability of the guidance entitled "Information to Support a Claim of Electromagnetic Compatibility (EMC) of Electrically-Powered Medical Device." This guidance describes the types of information that should be provided to support a claim of EMC in a premarket submission for an electrically powered medical device. Electromagnetic disturbance is electronic product radiation that may interfere with the performance of an electrically powered medical device in its intended environment (i.e., cause an electromagnetic interference (EMI)). EMC assessment helps to ensure that a device is able to function in its intended environment without introducing excessive electromagnetic disturbances that might interfere with other devices.

DATES: Submit either electronic or written comments on this guidance at any time. General comments on Agency guidance documents are welcome at any time.

ADDRESSES: You may submit comments as follows:

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a final guidance to provide FDA's current thinking about the information that should be provided in a premarket submission to support a claim of EMC for an electrically powered medical device. The assessment of EMC helps to ensure that the risks associated with performance degradation of electrically powered medical devices due to EMI are adequately mitigated. This guidance is intended to ensure that clear and consistent information regarding medical device EMC are provided in premarket submissions to facilitate the review of submissions with EMC claims associated with safety and effectiveness.

The guidance includes information consistent with specifications described in FDA-recognized consensus national or international standards for EMC such as in the International Equipment--Part 1-2: General Requirements for Basic Safety and Essential Performance--
Collateral Standard: Electromagnetic Compatibility--Requirements and Tests; IEC 60601-1-2:
Edition 4.0: 2014-01, Medical Electrical Equipment, Part 1-2: General Requirements for Basic Safety and Essential Performance--Collateral Standard: Electromagnetic Disturbances--
Requirements and Tests; Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation (AAMI)/American National Standards Institute (ANSI)/IEC 60601-1-2: 2007/(R) 2012 Medical Electrical Equipment--Part 1-2: General Requirements for Basic Safety and Essential Performance--Collateral Standard: Electromagnetic Compatibility--Requirements and Tests; and Requirements for Basic Safety and Essential Performance--Collateral Standard: Electromagnetic Disturbances--Requirements and Tests Standards that sponsors and manufacturers of electrically powered medical devices often reference.

The draft guidance of "Information to Support a Claim of Electromagnetic Compatibility (EMC) of Electrically-Powered Medical Device" was posted November 2, 2015, for public comment, and the comment period ended on December 17, 2015. Three sets of comments were received during the comment period.

II. Significance of Guidance
This guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on the information that should be provided to support a claim of EMC of electrically-powered medical device. It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

III. Electronic Access

Persons interested in obtaining a copy of the guidance may do so by downloading an electronic copy from the Internet. A search capability for all Center for Devices and Radiological Health guidance documents is available at http://www.fda.gov/MedicalDevices/DeviceRegulationandGuidance/GuidanceDocuments/default.htm.
