II. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the self-regulatory organization included statements concerning the purpose of, and basis for, the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of those statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant parts of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and the Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The Exchange proposes to amend NYSE Arca Equities Rule 7.35P (“Rule 7.35P”) to provide for widened price collar thresholds for the Core Open Auction on volatile trading days. The Exchange believes that widening the Auction Collars for the Core Open Auction during periods of market-wide volatility would assist the Exchange in conducting fair and orderly auctions for its listed securities.

As set forth in Rule 7.35P(a)(10), the price collar thresholds for the Core Open Auction are currently set at 10% for securities with an Auction Reference Price of $25.00 or less, 5% for securities with an Auction Reference Price greater than $25.00 but less than or equal to $50.00, and 3% for securities with an Auction Reference Price greater than $50.00.⁴

⁴ The Auction Reference Price for the Core Open Auction is the midpoint of the Auction NBBO or, if the Auction NBBO is locked, the locked price. If there is no Auction NBBO, the prior trading day’s Official Closing Price. The Auction Reference Price for the Trading Halt Auction is the last consolidated round-lot price of that trading day, and if none, the prior trading day’s Official Closing Price. See NYSE Arca Equities Rule 7.35P(a)(8).

The Exchange proposes to widen the applicable Auction Collars for the Core Open Auction on days with market-wide volatility to 10% for all Auction-Eligible Securities,⁵ regardless of the Auction Reference Price. The Exchange believes that for securities priced greater than $25.00, the proposed wider price collar threshold would allow for additional price movements during periods of market-wide volatility, while continuing to prevent auctions from occurring at prices significantly away from the applicable Auction Reference Price.⁶ The proposed 10% price collar threshold for the Core Open Auction is the same as currently used by the Nasdaq Stock Market LLC (“Nasdaq”) for its opening crosses.⁷

To determine whether there is market-wide volatility, the Exchange proposes to use the same standard that its affiliated exchange, the New York Stock Exchange LLC (“NYSE”), recently added to determine whether there is market-wide volatility.⁸ As proposed, the Exchange would widen its Auction Collars for the Core Open Auction if, as of 9:00 a.m. Eastern Time, the E-mini S&P 500 Futures are +/- 2% from the prior day's closing price of the E-mini S&P 500 Futures or the Exchange determines that it is necessary or appropriate for the maintenance of a fair and orderly market. Market-wide volatility applies similar pricing pressure to all eligible

⁵ For the Core Open Auction, Auction-Eligible Securities are all securities for which the Exchange is the primary listing market and UTP Securities designated by the Exchange. See NYSE Arca Equities Rule 7.35P(a)(1)(A).

⁷ See Nasdaq Rule 4752(d)(2)(E) and http://www.nasdaqtrader.com/content/productservices/trading/crosses/openclose_faqs.pdf.

⁸ See NYSE Rules 15(d)(2) and 123D(a)(1)(B)(ii); see also Securities Exchange [sic] Release No. 78228 (July 5, 2016), 81 FR 44907 (July 11, 2016) (SR-NYSE-2016-24) (Approval Order).

securities and, in addition to the empirical measurement of the E-mini S&P 500 Futures, the Exchange proposes that it would have the power to widen the Auction Collars if it determines that it is necessary or appropriate for the maintenance of a fair and orderly market.⁹

The Exchange believes that widening the Auction Collars for the Core Open Auction during periods of market-wide volatility would promote greater efficiency and transparency on such trading days by specifying uniform parameters for how the Core Open Auction would be effectuated for all Auction-Eligible securities on trading days experiencing market-wide volatility.

2. Statutory Basis

The proposed rule change is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Act,¹⁰ in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Act,¹¹ in particular, in that it is designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in facilitating transactions in securities, and to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and in general, to protect investors and the public interest.

In particular, the Exchange believes that applying the same Auction Collars of 10% to all Eligible Auction Securities during periods of market-wide volatility, regardless of the Auction Reference Price, would remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and in general, protect investors and the public interest, because it would promote fair and orderly auctions during periods when market-wide volatility is causing pricing dislocation across all securities. The Exchange further believes that widening the price collar thresholds for all securities would remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a national market system because it is designed to allow for greater price movement, while at the same time preventing auction trades from occurring at prices significantly away from the applicable Auction Reference Price. Accordingly, investors would be protected from executions significantly away from the last sale in a security or other applicable reference price, but natural price fluctuations resulting from the market volatility would be permitted. In addition, the Exchange believes that widening the Auction Collars could reduce the possibility of securities triggering multiple trading pauses under the Regulation NMS Plan to Address Market Volatility.

The Exchange further believes that by specifying the standards for when Auction Collars would be widened, the proposal would advance the efficiency and transparency of the opening process, thereby fostering accurate price discovery at the open of trading. For the same reasons, the proposal is also designed to protect investors as well as the public interest.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change would impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The proposed rule change is not designed to address competitive issues but rather is designed to ensure a fair and orderly market by widening the price collar thresholds for the Core Open Auction on trading days with market-wide volatility and therefore will not create a burden on competition. The proposed rule change is not intended to address competitive issues but rather promote greater efficiency and transparency at the open of trading on the Exchange.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

No written comments were solicited or received with respect to the proposed rule change.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action
