SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a draft guidance for industry entitled “Physiologically Based Pharmacokinetic Analyses--Format and Content.” A PBPK analysis uses models and simulations that combine physiology, population, and drug characteristics to describe the pharmacokinetics and/or pharmacodynamics of that particular drug in humans. Throughout a drug’s life cycle, PBPK analyses can be used to support decisions on whether, when, and how to conduct certain clinical pharmacology studies, inform dosing recommendations, and enable prescription drug labeling. Currently, the format and content of PBPK analyses that are submitted to FDA vary significantly across drug developers. Standardizing the content and format of the PBPK analyses can facilitate FDA’s efficient assessment, consistent application, and timely decision making during regulatory review. This guidance recommends including the following five sections in a PBPK study report: (1) Executive Summary, (2) Materials and Methods, (3) Results, (4) Discussion, and (5) Appendices. This guidance does not address methodological considerations and best practices for the conduct of PBPK modeling and simulation, or the appropriateness of PBPK analyses for a particular drug.

This draft guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The draft guidance, when finalized, will represent the current thinking of FDA on the format and content of PBPK analyses. It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

II. Electronic Access

Persons with access to the Internet may obtain the draft guidance at either http://www.fda.gov/Drugs/GuidanceComplianceRegulatoryInformation/Guidances/default.htm or https://www.regulations.gov.

III. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

This draft guidance refers to previously approved collections of information found in FDA regulations. These collections of information are subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501-3520). The collection of information in 21 CFR 314.50(d) has been approved under OMB control number 0910-0001.
