SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background
FDA is announcing the availability of a guidance for industry entitled “Clinical Trial Imaging Endpoint Process Standards.” The purpose of this guidance is to assist sponsors in optimizing the quality of imaging data obtained in clinical trials intended to support approval of drugs and biological products. It focuses on imaging acquisition, display, archiving, and interpretation standards that FDA regards as important when imaging is used to assess the trial’s primary endpoint or a component of that endpoint. The guidance describes the minimum standards a sponsor should use to help ensure that clinical trial imaging data are obtained in a manner that complies with a trial’s protocol, maintains imaging data quality, and provides a verifiable record of the imaging process.

This guidance addresses the background considerations for determining the role of imaging in a clinical trial as well as the major considerations in the development of an imaging charter that describes the trial’s imaging methods. The guidance specifically addresses the technical components of a charter’s description of the image acquisition, image interpretation, and image data development methods. This guidance finalizes the draft guidance issued on March 5, 2015 (80 FR 11998). Changes made to the draft guidance took into consideration written and verbal comments received. In addition to editorial changes primarily for clarification, changes also included the following: clarifying the recommended role of a centralized image interpretation process and the quality control process; streamlining the description of the recommended approach to incidental findings and to discordant image interpretations; and highlighting further the interrelationship between a clinical protocol and an imaging charter.
This guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on clinical trial imaging endpoint process standards. It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations. This guidance is not subject to Executive Order 12866.

II. The Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

This guidance refers to previously approved collections of information that are subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501-3520). The collections of information in 21 CFR parts 312 and 314 have been approved under OMB control numbers 0910-0014 and 0910-0001, respectively.
