SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a draft guidance for industry entitled “Cytomegalovirus in Transplantation: Developing Drugs to Treat or Prevent Disease.” The purpose of this guidance is to assist sponsors in the clinical development of drugs for the treatment or prevention of CMV disease in patients who have undergone SOT or HSCT.

Specifically, this guidance addresses FDA's current thinking regarding the overall development program and clinical trial designs for the development of drugs and biologics to support an indication for the treatment or prevention of CMV disease in post-transplant populations. This guidance does not address drug development for the prevention or treatment of congenital CMV infection or CMV infection in patients other than those undergoing SOT or HSCT.

This guidance also discusses the use of CMV DNAemia (CMV deoxyribonucleic acid in blood determined by polymerase chain reaction, an indirect measure of CMV viremia) as a surrogate endpoint in trials designed to support accelerated approval.

This draft guidance is being issued consistent with FDA's good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The draft guidance, when finalized, will represent the current thinking of FDA on developing drugs to treat or prevent CMV disease in transplantation. It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations. This guidance is not subject to Executive Order 12866.
