[Docket No. FDA-2017-D-6154]

Evaluation of Devices Used with Regenerative Medicine Advanced Therapies; Guidance for Industry; Availability

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA or Agency) is announcing the availability of a final guidance entitled "Evaluation of Devices Used with Regenerative Medicine Advanced Therapies; Guidance for Industry." The guidance document provides manufacturers, applicants, and sponsors engaged in the development of regenerative medicine therapies, with our current thinking regarding evaluation of devices used in the recovery, isolation or delivery of regenerative advanced therapies, which FDA generally refers to as "regenerative medicine advanced therapies" or "RMATs." Specifically, the guidance addresses how FDA intends to simplify and streamline its application of regulatory requirements for combination device and cell or tissue products; what, if any, intended uses or specific attributes would result in a device used with a regenerative therapy product to be classified as a class III device; the factors to consider in determining whether a device may be labeled for use with a specific RMAT or class of RMATs; when a device may be limited to a specific intended use with only one particular type of cell; and application of the least burdensome approach to demonstrate how a device may be used with more than one cell type. The issuance of this guidance fulfills the statutory requirement set forth in a certain section of the 21st Century Cures Act (Cures Act). The guidance announced in this notice finalizes the draft guidance of the same title dated November 2017.

DATES: The announcement of the guidance is published in the Federal Register on [INSERT DATE OF PUBLICATION IN THE FEDERAL REGISTER].

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a document entitled "Evaluation of Devices Used with Regenerative Medicine Advanced Therapies; Guidance for Industry." The guidance provides manufacturers, applicants and sponsors engaged in the development of regenerative medicine therapies, with our current thinking regarding evaluation of devices used in the recovery, isolation or delivery of regenerative advanced therapies, which FDA generally refers to as "RMATs." The issuance of the final guidance fulfills the statutory requirement set forth in section 3034(b) of the Cures Act (Pub. L. 114-255) and sets forth information about a wide range of concepts related to the regulation of devices used in the recovery, isolation, and delivery of RMATs. As our experience with these products grows, we may consider issuing guidance on more specific topics related to these devices to provide additional recommendations to stakeholders.

comments received on the draft guidance. FDA revised the guidance as appropriate in response to the comments and made editorial changes to improve clarity. The guidance announced in this notice finalizes the draft guidance dated November 2017.
