SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a draft guidance for industry entitled "Bispecific Antibody Development Programs." This draft guidance provides recommendations to assist those involved in the bispecific antibody drug development process. This draft guidance discusses general considerations and recommendations, as well as regulatory, quality, nonclinical, and clinical considerations in the context of bispecific antibody development programs. This draft guidance does not discuss development considerations for other multitarget therapies that are combinations of monoclonal antibodies, antibody cocktails, or polyclonal antibodies.

Since the first therapeutic monoclonal antibody was commercialized in 1986, monoclonal antibodies have become a vital component of therapy for various diseases and conditions including cancer, autoimmune and infectious diseases, and inflammatory conditions. The regulatory pathway for evaluation of monoclonal antibodies is well established, but additional draft guidance is needed about antibody-based products that target more than one antigen. Advances in technology and an interest in novel therapies that combine targets have led to the development of bispecific antibodies, which are genetically engineered, recombinant antibodies that consist of two distinct binding domains capable of binding two different antigens or two different epitopes of the same antigen.

There are a number of challenges in developing bispecific antibodies, one of which may be significant immunogenicity caused by novel epitopes. This draft guidance addresses these considerations and provides recommendations regarding the type of data necessary to support the approval of bispecific antibodies.

This draft guidance is being issued consistent with FDA's good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The draft guidance, when finalized, will represent the current thinking of FDA on "Bispecific Antibody Development Programs." It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations. This guidance is not subject to Executive Order 12866.

II. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

This draft guidance refers to previously approved collections of information found in FDA regulations. These collections of information are subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501-3520). The collections of information in 21 CFR part 312 have been approved under 0910-0014.
