Las Vegas | February 07, 2022 07:42 AM Pacific Standard Time

Provana, provider of the industry's first unified platform for compliance and performance management, today announced a strategic collaboration with Bedard Law Group (BLG), to bring 360-degree compliance to the Accounts Receivable Management (ARM) market. The new solution combines BLG360 services with Provana's comprehensive compliance management suite. BLG360 is an on-demand subscription service to BLG's expert attorneys, while Provana's GRC technology platform is tailored specifically to CFPB requirements.

Announced at RMAi's 25th Annual Conference in Las Vegas, the solution comes at a pivotal moment as the ARM industry continues to grapple with Regulation F compliance. The only such combination available today, this new offering provides an unbeatable and intelligent solution for managing policies, audits, training, remediation, certification, complaints, and all aspects of CFPB compliance.

John Bedard, Managing Partner of BLG, noted, "I have seen Provana's products and services growing within my client base for many years. Automation is a must in ARM, and we at BLG felt we should work with the premier provider of compliance and performance management solutions in our industry to deliver the unique value of BLG360 as part of an automated suite."

"We are excited to work with one of the preeminent compliance firms in ARM to enrich our compliance management capabilities for customers," said Sean Clark, Provana's SVP of Platforms. "Adding BLG360 as part of our compliance solutions provides a level of intelligence and support unparalleled in ARM, enabling collection entities drive higher revenues with less risk."
