Which of the two promotions the casino offers is completely down to their own discretion. No deposit free spins usually will come with wagering requirements which means that you will have to wager your winnings a certain amount of times before they can be withdrawn. Deposit free spins offers will vary, some come with wagering requirements and others won't.

However, Immortal Romance free spins aren't only offered as part of welcome offers; they can be given out as part of other bonuses such as Refer A Friend or Weekly Offers, as well as these they may also be used as Loyalty/VIP rewards for players who meet certain requirements. Once a player has met the requirements of whichever offer they are claiming, the free spins should automatically become available in the Immortal Romance slot game, the amount of time this takes and the value of the spins will vary between each casino.

How Many Free Spins Can I Get On Immortal Romance?

Most Microgaming supported casino sites will have an Immortal Romance free spins offer, however, the specifics of each promotion vary depending on the casino's decisions or regular terms and conditions, such as wagering requirements. Some casinos are more generous than others but reading the T&Cs is always a good idea.

20 Free Spins

Immortal Romance 20 free spins offers are probably the most common, it is also the offer that is also the most likely to be a no deposit bonus, which means players will usually only need to sign up and enter a valid card.

50 Free Spins

When it comes to regular promotions, this kind of offer is very uncommon, however, it is extremely popular on Immortal Romance. Free spins from this type of offer typically have a value of roughly £0.10 each. 100 Free Spins

One of the largest free spins offers for Immortal Romance is 100, but it's important to remember that, like other casino promotions, these offers most likely will have wagering requirements.
