Eagles vs. Chiefs: What to Expect

The Super Bowl will be exciting to watch because both teams have finished the season with a 14-3 score and will go head-to-head with the Eagle's former head coach, who is now the coach for the Chiefs. In addition, the Eagles and the Chiefs have the top-named MVP. Mahomes is favored to be named it this year, just ahead of Hurts. Therefore, in this game, they will battle for both the title of Super Bowl champion and this season's MVP.

Eagles

The last time the Eagles were in the Super Bowl was back in 2017, when they played the Patriots and won with a score of 41-33. The eagles last game of the NFC was against the 49ers, where they won 31-7. The eagles have Jalen Hurts as the quarterback, who has been on fire since he started with the Eagles in 2021. He has led them to playoffs in his first year with the team. The team now has a spot in the Super Bowl after a 14-3 win. The game between the Chiefs will have you on the edge of your seat.

Chiefs

This will be the Chief's 5th super Bowl since 1967. In the past, the Chiefs have had two wins and two losses in Super Bowl games. The Chiefs have made it to the Super Bowl three years in a row, winning one of them. We will have to wait for a see on February 12. Patrick Mahomes has dramatically affected the chiefs team, with his career having a 64-16 record. Mahomes recently had an injury during a game with the Jaguars; however, this didn't stop him from playing in the conference championship games and helped the Chiefs win yet another AFC game, making them have a record of 14-3 this season.

What's Happened During the NFL Season so far?

The NFL is played for 18 weeks to see who the champion will be after the Super Bowl. This year the finals are Philadelphia Eagles and Kansas City Chiefs. Both teams have been playing a fantastic season finishing with a record 14-3 scored. Here are highlights and facts in the last 18 weeks of the NFL:

Week 1 -

- Patrick Mahomes generated a 110.6 passer rating versus a 2-high safety shell (career-low 85.8 passer rating on such snaps in 2021)
- The cowboys scored the fewest points at home since week 16 in 2002. A.J. Brown's 128 yards in the first half were the most in a team debut by any non-rookie since at least 1991.

Week 2 -

- Cooper Rush was 16-of-24 passing for 209 yards, a TD when he was not under pressure and 6-of-8 passing for 76 yards, and a TD when he was against the Bengals.
- Russell Wilson completed 6-of-16 passes for 98 yards with a time to throw of 2.5 or more seconds.

Week 3 -

- Trevor Lawrence became the second quarterback in the NFL common draft era to start his career with nine road losses and then win on his 10th road start. Jared Goff went 8-of-13 for 114 yards and a TD on play-action.

Week 4 -

- Patrick Mahomes was 18-of-28 for 221 yards, two touchdowns, an interception, and a 97.5 passer rating versus four or fewer pass rushers.
- The Patriots used six offensive linemen on 15 of their 58 offensive plays, as tight end Jonnu Smith was injured near the end of the first half.

Week 5 -

- Mark Andrews had seven receptions for 82 yards and a touchdown on eight targets when aligned in the slot.
- Sunday marked Jalen Hurts' seventh career game with multiple rushing touchdowns, tied for the second-most by a QB. Only Cam Newton (10 games) has more.

Week 6 -

- Three Patriots defenders -- Deatrich Wise, Matthew Judon, Anfernee Jennings -- recorded four or more quarterback pressures in Sunday's win.
- Adam Thielen's touchdown was the 51st of his career, passing Wes Welker (50) for the third-most by an undrafted player in the common draft era.

Week 7 -

- Daniel Jones was 10-of-14 passing for 105 yards and a TD on play-action passes (which came on 45.2% of his dropbacks Sunday).
- Joe Burrow tied Matthew Stafford for the fourth-fastest quarterback to reach 9,000 passing yards, doing so in 33 career games.

Week 8 -

- Russell Wilson's 47-yard completion to KJ Hamler on Denver's game-winning drive had a 19.0% completion probability, the second-most improbable completion for the Broncos this year.
- The Bears have rushed for 200-plus yards in three straight games for the first time since Weeks 7-9 in 1968. Gale Sayers led the Bears in rushing in 1968.

Week 9 -

- Patrick Mahomes became the first player in the Super Bowl era with at least 400 yards and a touchdown passing and 60 yards and a TD rushing in the same game.
- Tom Brady now has 55 game-winning drives, breaking a tie with Peyton Manning (54) for most in NFL history. Brady also tied Manning with 43 fourth-quarter comebacks for most of all time.

Week 10 -

- Micah Parsons generated zero QB pressures on just eight pass rushes, the first game with no pressures in his career.
- Jeff Okudah's pick-six was the first for the Lions in 60 games.

Week 11 -

- Andy Dalton completed 11 of 13 passes for 131 yards and three touchdowns on attempts down the seams.
- Jonathan Allen had seven QB pressures and two sacks on 32 pass rushes (21.9 pressure percent).

Week 12 -

- Jauan Jennings had a 31.3% completion probability on a 5-yard TD reception in the second quarter, the most improbable reception in his career.

- Josh Jacobs is the only player since at least 1950 with 225-plus rush yards and 70-plus receiving yards in a single game.

Week 13 -

- D.J. Chark earned a plus-33.2 catch percent over expected on five receptions for 98 yards versus his former team.
- The Broncos (13.8 points per game) are currently on pace to be the first team in the last 10 seasons to average under 14 points a contest.

Week 14 -

- Jaycee Horn aligned across from DK Metcalf on 30 of 38 routes in Week 14 (79% shadow rate).
- Garrett Wilson (868 yards through Sunday) passed Keyshawn Johnson (844) for the most receiving yards by a rookie in Jets history.

Week 15

- Myles Garrett had four QB pressures and 1.5 sacks on 28 pass rushes versus the Ravens.
- Jaylen Waddle reached a maximum speed of 21.11 miles per hour on his 67-yard TD reception, his fastest as a ball carrier since Week 12 of 2021 when he hit 21.80.

Week 16 -

- Justin Fields went 3-of-4 for 70 yards and a TD on passes of 10-plus air yards (12-of-18, 49 yards on passes of fewer than 10 air yards).
- Justin Jefferson now holds the Vikings' single-season receiving-yards record that was previously held by Randy Moss (1,632 yards in 2003).

Week 17 -

- Colts QB Nick Foles was 0 of 3 passing with an interception on passes outside the numbers before leaving the game with an injury.
- The Jets have missed the playoffs in 12 straight seasons, the longest active drought in the NFL.

Week 18

- Lions running back Jamaal Williams had 13 rushes for 60 yards and two touchdowns with seven-plus defenders in the box.
- Nyheim Hines is the 11th player in NFL history with two kick return touchdowns in the same game and the first since Leon Washington in Week 3, 2010.

Details of Super Bowl

Super Bowl is on Sunday, February 12, 2023, and is being held at Farm Stadium in Glendale, Arizona, at 6:30 pm Eastern Time. In previous years, the Super Bowl was played on the first Sunday of February. However, the Super Bowl is being played on the second Sunday this year because the NFL chose to increase the schedule to 17 games from 16.

Philadelphia Eagles and Kansas City Chiefs will play in this year's Super Bowl after the Conference Championship games played on Sunday, January 29, 2023. The four teams who played in this year's Conference Championship were the San Francisco 49ers and Philadelphia Eagles, the National Football Conference (NFC) teams, and Cincinnati Bengals and Kansas City Chiefs, the American Football Conference (AFC) teams. The winners from NFC and AFC then go on and play each other in the Super Bowl.

The Super Bowl game lasts four hours on average. During the game, it includes the halftime performance and the game itself, which is around 3 and 30 minutes. The game often lasts three hours, but since the Super Bowl is such a well-known event internationally, they choose to concentrate on advertising. This is because it's a live event, and people are less likely to skip ads. The Super Bowl is also known worldwide for its halftime shows; in the past, they have had some great headliners for their halftime shows, with names like Michael Jackson, Usher, Destiny's Child, and Beyonce performing. This year they have Rihanna headlining the show.
