Are you an Athlete?

Join as an Athlete

SportsBrain monitors an athlete's cognitive health throughout the school year. As an athlete, you must complete the SportsBrain Cog Test after you register. The results will be used by your coaches, guardians, and medical professionals to help monitor your progress in case you sustain a concussion.

The SportsBrain athlete registration process includes:

1. Accept invite / create account.
2. Watch educational video + pass video quiz.
3. Accept terms and conditions.
4. Manage your teams.
5. Take SportsBrain Cog Test.

Or are you a Guardian?

Join as a Guardian

SportsBrain allows parents and guardians the ability to monitor their athlete's health in case a concussion is diagnosed.

The SportsBrain parent / guardian registration process includes:

1. Accept invite / create account.
2. Watch educational video + pass video quiz.
3. Accept terms and conditions.

Welcome to SportsBrain's concussion management program

Concussion is a brain injury. There are over 1.3 million sports concussions in the US every year. 140,000 of these occur in high school athletes. Concussion accounts for 10% of all high school injuries.

The following educational video reviews concussion injury and management. To continue with your sign-up process, watch the video, then click on the button below to take a quiz about the video. Your registration is not complete until you pass the quiz. If you do not pass the quiz in the first 2 tries, you will have to watch the video again.

1: Click the play arrow below to watch the educational video.

2: Click the button below to take the Video Quiz.
