

Concussion Baseline Test for athletes

All athletes in contact sports must take the baseline test each school year. This test is used to later identify if you are ready to return to play after a concussion or possible concussion. All athletes should take this seriously and should be proactive about their personal health, especially in regards to possible injury to the brain.

You MUST use a computer that has an external mouse. touchpads should not be used for this. test takes anywhere from 20-30 min.
