They all look for a toy they can get with the coins.

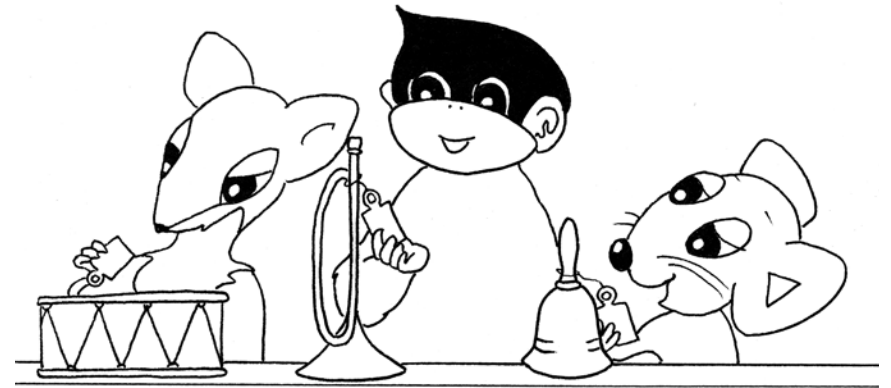

“No, we cannot get all the toys
with the coins,” says Mit.
“This toy shop is no fun,” says Mat.

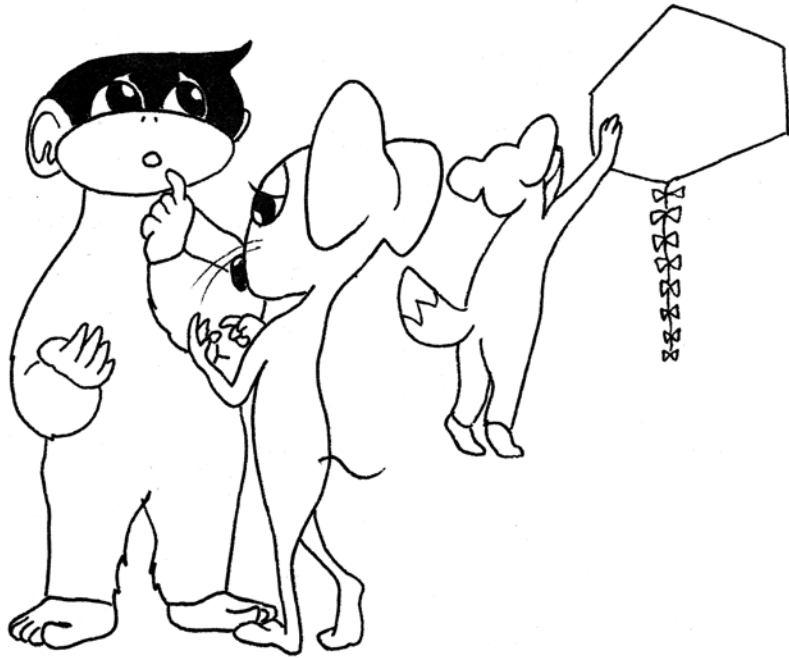

“Max, do you like my coin bank?”
“Yes, it looks like a pig.”

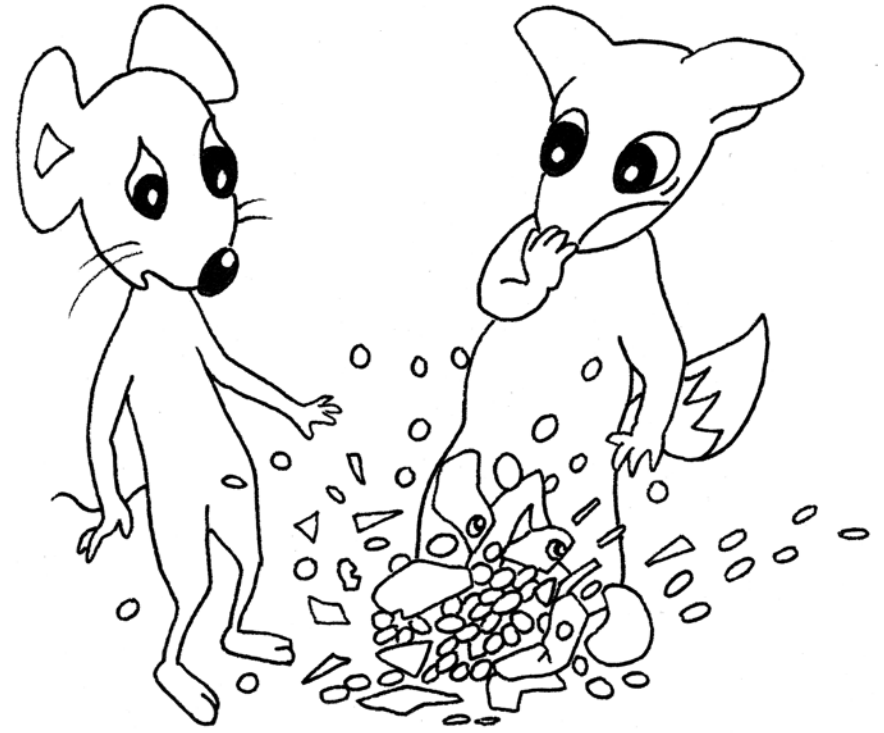

“Did you fill it up with coins?
Can I see the coin bank?”

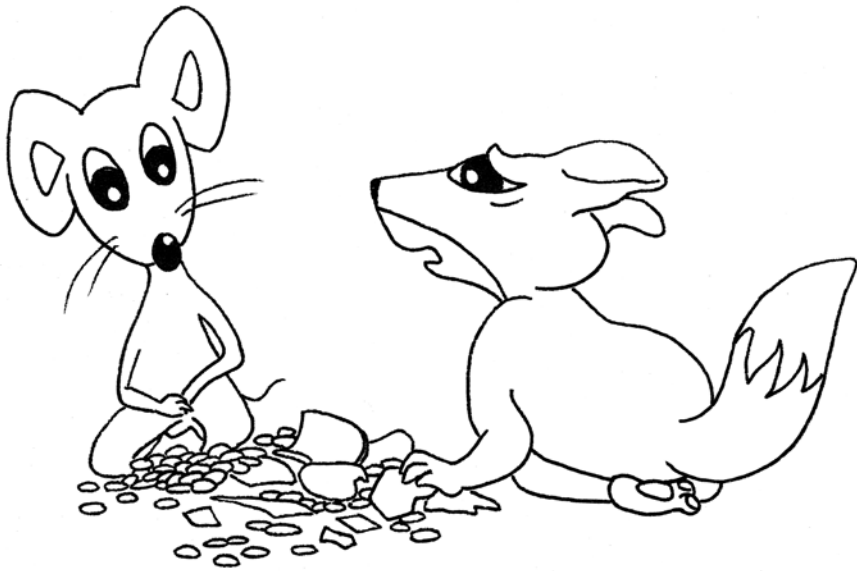

“Can I get the drum?”
“Can I get the horn?”
“I like the bell.”

“We cannot get the plane, the boat,
and the kite with the coins.”

Mat hands the coin bank to Max.
It hits the ground.

“No, it fell!
The coins are all on the ground.
Are you mad at me, Mat?”

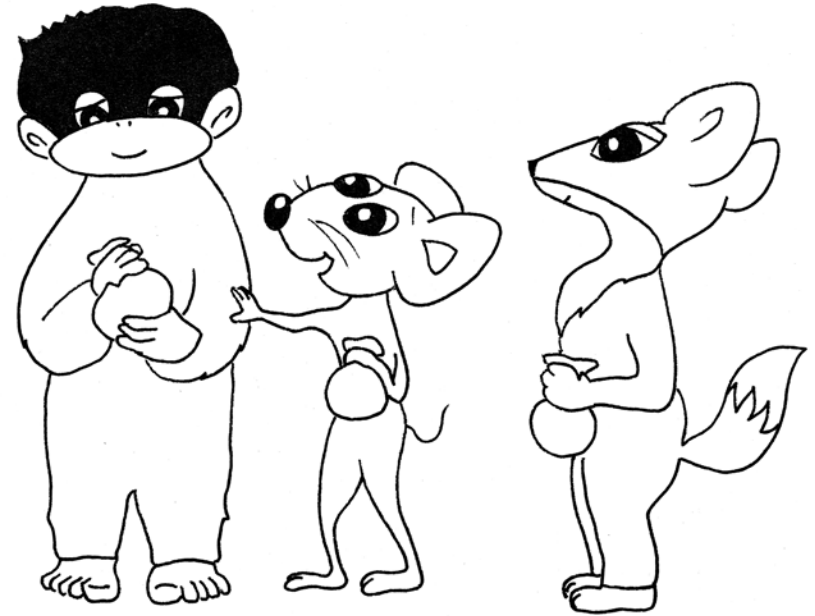

“I like that red plane.”
“I like the boat.”
“I like the big kite.”

“We need to check the coins.
Then we can see what we can get
with them.”

“No, I am not mad. We can now go to the toy shop with the coins.
Fill the small sacks with the coins.”

“Look, there’s Mit. He can go to the toy shop too,” says Mat.
“It will be fun at the toy shop,” says Max.

“Mit, there are coins in the sacks.
They are from my coin bank.
We can get toys at the toy shop.”
