

FULL STACK WEB DEVELOPER

Remezcla is an award-winning media content platform and creative studio seeking a Full Stack Web Developer.

As we grow this culture, mindset and capability, we want you to lead this change with us. We are spinning up a more Agile Lean Startup team and we need full stack developers to join them. This candidate would be responsible for building and maintaining the Remezcla platform. This includes our editorial website / content, cx support tools and production facilities' toolset. We are focused on building smart solutions to evolving business challenges, while delivering great user experience. We work hand in hand with our product team and are highly data driven.

The ideal candidate loves coding and building web applications. Is responsible, creative, has strong attention to detail, motivated, entrepreneur, team player, and available in the evenings and weekends. Being an integral member of a small, closely-knit team, this position requires the flexibility to manage multiple tasks and resources while meeting strict deadlines.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Own the technical design and implementation of features from start to finish, working with our product and design partners at every step along the way.
- Enhancing Remezcla's site by developing and implementing highly engaging content templates and functionality based on best practices and leading industry standards.
- Creating microsites and other digital platforms to meet external client's marketing goals and requirements.
- Rapidly iterate on features that will bring more users to Remezcla.com, both through our website and the distribution platforms to which we push content (Google AMP, Apple News, Facebook, Instagram, Twitter).
- Lead the craftsmanship, availability, resilience, and scalability of your solutions.
- Bring a passion to stay on top of tech trends, experiment with and learn new technologies, participate in internal & external technology communities.
- Encourage innovation, implementation of cutting-edge technologies, inclusion, outside-of-the-box thinking, and teamwork and self-managed.
- Work with a small team of creatives, pair programming often to gain and share knowledge.

REQUIREMENTS

- 5+ years of experience pushing out code to production.
- Experience developing cloud-hosted, responsive, single page web applications using JavaScript, Java, HTML5, CSS3.
- Strong knowledge and skillset in use of Wordpress.
- High proficiency with client side JavaScript frameworks, server side frameworks, databases and monitoring / instrumentation (New Relic).
- Demonstrate active pursuit of optimizing CI/CD process and tools, testing frameworks and practices (preferably GitHub, Jenkins/Bamboo, Mocha/Karma, etc).
- Experience working with Agile methodologies (Scrum, Lean Startup, XP) and cross-functional teams (Product Owners, Scrum Masters, Developers, Designers, Business Analysts).
- Ideally familiar with Design Thinking, Behavior and Test-Driven Development.
- Experience integrating AdTech solution such as DFP, Header Bidding, etc is a plus.
