

Australian Government
Australian Taxation Office

Home / About ATO / Access, accountability and reporting / Our scrutineers /

Australian National Audit Office

The Auditor-General is an independent officer of the parliament. Supported by the Australian National Audit Office (<http://www.anao.gov.au/About-Us>) (ANAO), the Auditor-General provides an independent assessment of public sector reporting, administration and accountability.

For us, this means that the ANAO conducts performance audits that examine the efficiency and effectiveness of our administration. Each year the ANAO also undertakes a financial statement audit that provides assurance that our financial report gives a true and fair view of our financial position.

The ANAO adopts a consultative approach to developing its forward work program and includes stakeholders such as, Inspector-General of Taxation, the Commonwealth Ombudsman and the Commissioner of Taxation.

See also:

- ANAO audit outcomes \(/About-ATO/Access.-accountability-and-reporting/In-detail/Australian-National-Audit-Office/\)

Last modified: 07 Mar 2016

QC 33431

Our commitment to you

We are committed to providing you with accurate, consistent and clear information to help you understand your rights and entitlements and meet your obligations.

If you follow our information and it turns out to be incorrect, or it is misleading and you make a mistake as a result, we will take that into account when determining what action, if any, we should take.

Some of the information on this website applies to a specific financial year. This is clearly marked. Make sure you have the information for the right year before making decisions based on that information.

If you feel that our information does not fully cover your circumstances, or you are unsure how it applies to you, contact us or seek professional advice.

Copyright notice

© Australian Taxation Office for the Commonwealth of Australia

You are free to copy, adapt, modify, transmit and distribute this material as you wish (but not in any way that suggests the ATO or the Commonwealth endorses you or any of your services or products).