Private mining businesses will be able to bid on over 4,000 plots of land to mine gems around the country, according to an official announcement.

The plots are available in Mogok in Mandalay region, Hpakant and Moe Nyin in Kachin state, Khanti in Sagaing region and Mine Shu in Shan state, the Myanmar Gems Enterprise said.

The floor price for each worksite is K1 million, while one application form for one plot is needed. Bidding started on November 13 for both old and new gem plots, according to the Enterprise.

Old plots which will expire in January, February and March are included in the bidding list.

However, businesspeople who are blacklisted and their related businesses are not allowed to compete in the bidding.

“We will call for tender as soon as the permitted duration for worksites expires. It is normal for a former miner to lose his mining plot in the bidding,” said U Thet Khine, deputy director of Licence and Registry Department of Myanmar Gems Enterprise.

All application processes will be handled by the Naypyitaw head office but locations and maps for the gem worksites are available in Myanmar Gems Enterprise offices countrywide.
