Celebrating Endurance & Resilience: Indigenous Writers are #StillHere

Are you interested in hearing more voices of contemporary indigenous writers?
Want to learn more about current issues that indigenous peoples face today?
Is it hard to find resources of indigenous works to include in curriculum?
Do you want to hear some powerful poetry?
Do you get hungry at about lunch time?

Please join us for all of this and a free lunch! The presentation will include pamphlets citing resources and further reading from featured authors + others, readings by three of KU's own graduate students, music, visuals, and time for questions and answers.

For questions and accommodations please contact Kayla Ehlinger: kayla.ehlinger@gmail.com
