

To Whom It May Concern:

November 3, 2014

Cassandra Smith is a graduate of the Human Resources Professional online career training program offered in partnership with Binghamton University and Ed2go. This Human Resources Professional program was designed to train students for entry-level positions as Human Resources Professionals and also to prepare for the Professional Human Resource (PHR exam).

Cassandra began the program on July 1, 2014, and successfully completed the online training on October 30, 2014, with an exceptional average of 98%. Cassandra was an exceptional student and completed the program in less than the allotted time. On several occasions I received email correspondence from Cassandra that was very professional and very considerate. She was a very pleasurable student to work with, and I would gladly recommend her for employment based on Cassandra's success in her online training.

Please feel free to contact me for any additional information regarding Cassandra Smith's online training with Ed2go.
