

Brittany Jilson
SMART goals
April 22, 2021

2-year goals

I will apply for the University of Binghamton's Nurse Practitioner program by May 1, 2022. This will further my education and begin the journey of becoming a nurse practitioner.

By May 1, 2022, I will have one year of experience on a labor and delivery floor at a local hospital as a registered nurse. This will enhance my experience in the specialty field.

Since I will have a year of experience on a labor and delivery floor I will apply for a travel nursing position in labor and delivery by July 1, 2022. This will get my family on the road to experience the country.

5-year goals

By July 1, 2025, I will complete the Nurse Practitioner program at Binghamton University which will bring new career opportunities while my family and I travel across the country.

By July 1, 2025, I will begin to look at specialty degrees in nurse practitioners and focus on labor and delivery. I will explore and research the scope of practice and responsibilities of a midwife.

By July 1, 2025, I will pay off my house. This will give my family the ability to travel more often and further in distance which will give my children a broader understanding and perspective of our world.