

Strong time management skills in a busy environment.

As a CNA at my doctor's office position, I currently work with four other nurses to room patients for their visits and assess them as they come in. With the five providers at the practice, we see up to 90 patients per day during Covid times. We have a standard to set so our patients are not waiting in the lobby for more than seven minutes after they check in at the front desk. Along with rooming patients, we are performing EKGs, blood work, eye exams, injections, and many others. I hold the expectation for myself to work as hard as I can to hold these standards and provide the best care to patients.
