Field of Study: Double Major

Computer Science/Applied Mathematics

Casey Wilson graduated from Henry W. Grady High School in 2021. This was the last graduating class of Grady because the name has since changed to Midtown High School. Casey was a part of the class that made it happen. The class of 2021 petitioned to get the name changed from a polarizing, controversial historical figure to a more acceptable name.

Her passion for activism will continue into her college experience at Georgia State University (GSU). As she remains centrally located in the city of Atlanta, she has and will continue to participate in protests, marches, and fighting for justice-related issues. She balances her socialism with her savvy business education as her major is in business accounting. Business has always been her passion and she was involved with the CTAE business pathway and Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA).

During her senior year she joined Rock the Street, Wall Street for it's first year at Grady. Since middle school Casey has played roller derby with the Atlanta Junior Roller Girls League and has continued with it throughout high school. She will be looking into the GSU roller team. She was a member of National Honor Society, Gay Straight Alliance, Phoenix Women Empowerment, UNICEF, and the Dog Rescue Club. She is certified in Microsoft and received a certificate for passing a Georgia Tech LEAP program. She is an active member of her community and volunteers at Fernbank Forest to clean out the invasive species
