ABIGAIL SARTORI

I am pursuing a Bachelor of Arts in English and Creative Writing (expected May 2024) at Southern New Hampshire University. During my time as an undergraduate student, I have developed skills in manuscript editing, proofreading, and literary analysis. Additionally, as part of my senior project, I am working on a novel that explores the themes of justice, morality, and resilience. My goal is to secure a role in publishing as an editor, where I can contribute to the quality and diversity of books and stories, and utilize my skills in time management, organization, and communication.
