RELEVANT COURSEWORK

International Security Issues | 3.3/4.0

Research based course focusing on an analysis of international security issues. This includes an emphasis on military security concerns and international peacekeeping, and nontraditional security concerns such as human security, food security and resource security.

International Relations | 4.0/4.0

Course examined the origin, nature, and development of the post-Cold War international system. It dove deep into the interactions between state and non-state actors. After completing this course, I feel I have a strong, base knowledge of the workings of international politics.

Ethics | 4.0/4.0

Course introduced me to moral reasoning, examining theories of right and wrong, good and bad, justice and injustice as they have been viewed in the past and as they shed light on contemporary ethical issues. With the skills obtained through this course, I feel I can better communicate with others as well as recognize and address everyday ethical dilemmas.

War and the American Experience | 4.0/4.0

Focusing on the in-depth analysis of the United States' history and experience through war time. Research and Discussion is focused on the political, societal and global effects of U.S. involvement in armed conflicts. This course is opening my eyes to the effects war has not only in short term but in long term as well.
