Addison Willis

I am a sophomore instrumental music education major at Eastern Illinois University. I take pride in my musical journey and how it has shaped me into who I am today. I credit EMC as one of the many reasons why I am here at EIU chasing my dreams of being a music educator, and I would love to be an influence on the younger generation of musicians who attend EMC. I strongly believe that working Eastern Music Camp would be the perfect opportunity for me to infect others with my love for music and allow me to hone my "teacher skills" in the process.
