

JENNA ODOR

Class of 2029

Email: odorjc@miamioh.edu

LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/jenna-odor>

Website: <https://sites.google.com/miamioh.edu/jenna-odor-portfolio/home>

Why Do I Design?

I design to remove barriers and create more accessible experiences while staying connected to the communities around me. My goal is to create work that improves people's lives and to lead with empathy, collaboration, and purpose.

Work Experience

Freelance

I designed and carved educational linoleum plates for both the Elliott Library and the Creation Museum

Penn Station East Coast Subs

Crewmember Nov 2023 - July 2025

Shift Manager July 2025 - Present day

Job Shadowing

Lisa Odor, Senior Interior Designer at MA Design, Cincinnati, OH

- I met with clients and learn how a professional Interior Design team works during the design process

Micah Odor, Executive Director of the CCL Network, Florence, KY

- I watched over administrative tasks and observed how good leadership impacts the professional hierarchy

Skills

Technical Skills

- Hand Drafting
- Quick Ideation
- Physical Craft
- Learning both SketchUp and Revit ahead of curriculum
- Perspective Drawing
- Layout and Presentation
- Concept Development

Professional Skills

- Team Collaboration
- Leadership
- Task Prioritization
- Confident Presentation
- Problem Solving
- User-Centered Design
- Attention to Detail

Personal Background

I've lived in Ohio most of my life with my two younger brothers, and growing up in a family where both of my parents pursued graduate education has shaped how I think about my own future. I'm currently pursuing a BFA in Interior Design with a co-major in Business, and I plan to earn my Real Estate license before graduating to broaden the ways I can shape the built environment. My goal is to design walkable, supportive communities for elders with degenerative diseases and individuals with severe ASD—spaces that prioritize safety, dignity, and human-centered care. Through design, I hope to create environments where both caregivers and residents can thrive while making a tangible difference for people who are too often overlooked.