Finance major with a growing passion for artificial intelligence and its impact on financial systems. I believe the future of finance will be shaped by AI-driven decision-making, automation, and smarter data analysis and I'm committed to being part of that transformation. I'm seeking practical, hands-on experience in a professional environment that encourages curiosity, open-minded thinking, and personal growth. My goal is to contribute meaningfully to an organization while developing into a valuable, adaptable asset who can bridge finance and emerging technologies.
