The Fulcrum, a news site covering the community of people and organizations seeking to improve American democracy, is a project of Issue One, a nonpartisan, nonprofit corporation that advocates for political reform.

However, The Fulcrum retains complete journalist independence. No employee of Issue One may instruct The Fulcrum’s editors or reporters on what to write (or not write), whom to interview (or not interview) or what tone to take in any article. Issue One staff are treated as potential sources and subjects of coverage, like any other organization.

We agree to honor the terms of this agreement for as long as Issue One continues to operate The Fulcrum.
