Church of Christ

October 19, 2025

"One would have a difficult time today or any day finding twelve men who have had more influence in the history of the world than the apostles of our Lord. Jesus selected them and trained them. He sent the Holy Spirit to guide them into all the truth. They hazarded their lives for Christ and His kingdom. The Holy Spirit guided and directed them as they wrote the Bible. We now have this truth - God's verbally inspired immovable perfect word, a lamp to our feet and a light to our pathway. We should learn all we can about these men whom our Lord selected to lead in establishing the church and preserving the truth for us." - George DeHoff

The 12 apostles were the closest followers of Jesus, chosen to spread his teachings and form the foundation of the early church. They were a diverse group of ordinary men from various backgrounds who became empowered by Jesus to preach, perform miracles, and establish Christian communities worldwide. Their legacy is one of boldness, doubt, and profound reliance on their faith to transform the world despite personal flaws.

Foundation of the Church: As Jesus' primary disciples, they were the first to carry out his mission, serving as the initial ambassadors of Christianity after his death and resurrection.

Diverse and Ordinary: The group included people from different walks of life, such as fishermen and a tax collector, demonstrating that God could use ordinary individuals for extraordinary purposes.

Empowerment and Mission: Jesus chose them to extend his kingdom, teaching them about the gospel and commissioning them to perform deeds like healing the sick and casting out demons.

Legacy and Impact: Their lives and writings, which include the Gospels and epistles, had a direct and lasting impact on Christian theology and the formation of the faith.

Humanity and Faith: Their stories include examples of doubt, betrayal (Judas Iscariot), and the eventual transformation into bold leaders, showcasing the human experience of faith and its challenges.
