Roaster's Note

In today's reality where we spend an overwhelming amount of time at home, I've found that improving my routine has helped me maintain focus. As a part of this journey, I went searching for a great cup of coffee.

Taking what I've learned from my time at a roaster in Atlanta, I've worked to find a smoother cup - something that 'third wave' coffee tends to ignore in search of brighter coffees. Now, I am routinely roasting some coffees that I enjoy, and I'd love to share them with you, in hopes that you can also enjoy them.

I'll always have a fantastic option for decaf, too. The beans are decaffeinated using the Swiss Water® Process - a process that uses solely water and osmosis. It's a great alternative if you're looking for one.

If you'd like to order, you can send me an email at rudyscoffeelab@gmail.com. And I'll get back to you as soon as I can.

*And there's something on your mind you wanna be saying
That somebody someplace oughta be hearin'
But it's trapped on your tongue and sealed in your head
And it bothers you badly when you're layin' in bed
And no matter how you try you just can't say it
And you're scared to your soul you just might forget it*
