Boston Globe
Release 13 (Campaign Finance), August 17-19, 24-26 2014

In recent elections, some candidates such as Scott Brown and Elizabeth Warren have discouraged the use of Super PACs on their behalf and signed a pledge to try to prevent them from advertising in their campaign. Are you more likely to vote for, less likely to vote for or would it make no difference in your support of a candidate if he/she pledged to limit the spending of Super PACs in their campaign?
