3.7 MILLION

REMOTE WORKERS IN THE U.S.A. (2014)

According to Global Workspace Analytics, 3.7 million workers in the United States work from home at least half of the time. This equates to 2.8% of the total workforce (Source). The number of telecommuters in the workplace grew by 5.6% between 2013 and 2014. The number of non-self-employed workers who work remotely has grown 103% since 2005.

TELEWORK IS A WORLD-WIDE PHENOMENON

In a worldwide survey of remote workers by Premier Global Services (Source), 64% of North American teleworkers report a more positive view by their employers toward remote work. In Europe, this percentage rises to 68%, and positive opinions are a whopping 79% in the Asia-Pacific Region.
