THE SABBATH RECORDER, NOVEMBER 21, 1867.

THE JEWISH PENTECOST.

A letter from A. H. Lewis of New Jersey, addressed to the Editor of the Revolutionary Union, in which he announces the organization of a Jewish Sabbath Union, and requests the support of the members of the Union.

Editor's Note.

The Editor of the Revolutionary Union has received a letter from A. H. Lewis, of New Jersey, in which he announces the organization of a Jewish Sabbath Union, and requests the support of the members of the Union.

The Editor, in reply, states that the Union is a valuable institution, and should be supported by all who are interested in the welfare of the Jewish people.

The Editor also states that the Union is organized in New Jersey, and that it is expected to extend to other parts of the country.

The Editor further states that the Union is intended to promote the welfare of the Jewish people, and to promote the study of the Jewish Sabbath.

The Editor also states that the Union is opposed to the Sabbath Institutions, and is not intended to compete with them.

The Editor states that the Union is intended to be a self-supporting institution, and will be conducted on a business-like basis.

The Editor concludes by expressing his confidence in the success of the Union, and his willingness to assist in every way possible.

The Editor also states that the Union is open to all who are interested in the welfare of the Jewish people, and that they are welcome to join and participate in its activities.

The Editor concludes by expressing his hope that the Union will be successful, and that it will be a great blessing to the Jewish people.
