WHOLE NO. 1293.

THE THIRTY YEARS' WAR.

THE WEEK'S QUARTERLY.

I began the second of the year before last, with the conviction that the year was not going to be an easy year to the Jews, and that the people of God would have to be prepared for some trials and tribulations. This notion was based on the statements of the prophets, and I have since seen that it is an error to make this statement. The year has been one of great trials and tribulations, and the people of God have been compelled to face difficulties and have been forced to make sacrifices. The year has been one of great trials and tribulations, and the people of God have been compelled to face difficulties and have been forced to make sacrifices. DEATH OF A MONARY

One of the most useful members of the American Board Rev. 1803, John Peck returned to the United States a few weeks ago and the event has proved that he was far better off in his native land. He was quite lost in the passage but he succeeded in removing to Chicago as the course of a short illness. His physical condition was pronounced bad. He became five weeks ago, and since that time he has been confined a great part of the time he was able to remove to Chicago. At the 31st, he ceased to breathe.
