THE SABBATH RECORDER, DECEMBER 4, 1873.

[ARTICLE]

[Content of the article discussing religious topics, historical events, and society issues pertinent to the period.]

[The text is a historical record and discussion relevant to the time frame of the 19th century, possibly including references to religious figures, societal changes, and cultural events.]
Then you will, won't you? And what will you do, that I may be satisfied with you? You know I hate to be trifled with; I won't consent to be trifled with. That's why you are here, isn't it? And you have an idea of my character after the manner of all these others, do you? For these people, I am forced to be anyway, or they are forced to me. Yet, I can't help being myself, and if they want to be anything else than that, it is up to them. That's the way it is, you know. And I am not to be trifled with. You can't do what you like. I know that full well, and I can't be trifled with. That's the way it is. You can't do what you like, you know. That's the way it is.