THE SABBATH RECORDER, MARCH 30, 1878.

From England.

My Dear Brother,—I am very glad to hear from you, and I hope you are all well. My health is good, and I send you my best wishes for yours.

I am writing to you because I want to know how you are getting on with your work. I hope you are making good progress, and that you are not too busy. I have been thinking about you often, and I hope you are not too tired.

I am looking forward to your visit, and I hope you will come soon. I would love to see you again.

I am sending you a few verses from a book I have been reading. I think you might find them interesting.

I hope you will write back soon and let me know how you are.

Yours sincerely,

J.A. Haver.
