THE SABBATH RECORDER, OCTOBER 3, 1879.

The Recorder, No. 1, Thursday, October 3, 1879.

REVIEW OF THE TIMES.

By J. H. SCOTT, B.D., Editor.

THE NEW/Testament, as the name of a new health journal published at Wewaersville, Berks Co., Pa., by Thomas E. Shuck, M.D., and John H. Scott, M.D., editors. It

Twas a Sabbath morning; a Sabbath morning to be a Christian day. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismissed, they went out to do their work, and to serve the Lord.

But the Sabbath morning was not to be spent in idleness, but in labor and in worship. And the Lord was surely present with the people, who were engaged in serving Him, and in doing what was pleasing to Him.

And when the lesson was over, and the people were dismiss...