In one of the stories in the New York Sunday Chronicle, there are a few words that I have always found very interesting. The story is about a man who was sent to prison for stealing a box of gold. When he was taken to the jail, he was told that he had to wear a chain around his neck, and that he could not go out without permission. The man asked why he had to wear the chain, and the guard replied, "Because you are a known thief." The man said, "But I am not a thief! I have never stolen anything before!" The guard said, "That may be, but you are still a known thief, and you have to wear the chain to show it."

I think this story is very interesting, because it shows how our actions can affect the way people think of us. Even though the man was innocent, he was still considered a thief because of his past actions. This is something that we should all be aware of, because it can affect the way people treat us.

The Sabbath Register.

I am writing to you about a letter that I received from my friend, John. He is a member of the Church of Latter-day Saints, and he told me about a meeting that they had in their church. They were discussing the importance of keeping the Sabbath, and they said that it is a way to honor God and to show our respect for Him. I agree with them, and I believe that it is important to keep the Sabbath in all its aspects.

I also want to mention that I recently heard a sermon by Elder Orson Pratt, in which he talked about the Sabbath. He said that the Sabbath is a day of rest, and that it is a way to honor God by not working. I think that this is very true, and I believe that we should take the time to rest on the Sabbath.

Yours truly,
